Egypt, Israel agree on peace treaty

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt (UPI) — Egyptian political sources said Tuesday that Egypt and Israel had agreed on the terms of an interim peace treaty and that a written document would be initiated by Egypt Friday or Saturday.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger flew to Egypt late Tuesday with an Israeli-approved draft of a settlement for final consideration by Egyptian President Anwar Sadat.

"We are working on the documentation and it's a hell of a lot of work," said a senior U.S. official aboard the Kissinger plane.

The Egyptian sources told UPI that Kissinger and Sadat would work on putting the latest Israeli version and some final Egyptian touches into writing.

"The agreement has reached the drafting stage," the sources said. "It seems only the wording is a problem."

In Jerusalem, Kissinger emerged from a six-hour meeting with Israeli leaders and told reporters before flying on to Egypt, "We are making remarkable progress toward an agreement and a nervous breakdown and it's going to be a race to see which will be achieved first."

Foreign Minister Yigal Allon stood at his side and told reporters, "I have the feeling that during the last two days we achieved remarkable progress toward conclusion of an interim agreement and we are much closer to a positive conclusion than ever since the shuttle was resumed."

Later, Allon made an official announcement that Israel would be ceding territory to Egypt.

Terms of the proposed treaty call for expansion of Egyptian territory in the Sinai desert east of the Suez Canal, including return of the Abu Rudeis oil fields seized by Israel in the 1967 Middle East war.

The senior official aboard the Kissinger plane told reporters that the treaty would first be initiated this week and later would be formally signed in Geneva. It would go into effect when follow-up technical details have been agreed upon by Egypt and Israel, he said.

He said Kissinger's shuttle effort would be finished by Saturday at the latest, or not at all.

Sadat greeted Kissinger for nighttime talks at his Maamoura villa on the Mediterranean shore in his usual style, kissing the secretary on both cheeks. Kissinger simply rubbed his cheeks against Sadat's.

The Egyptian president then told reporters he could not answer any questions until he talked with the American he calls his "brother."

But he said that if Kissinger's shuttle diplomacy succeeds, "this will mean the defusion of the explosive situation. It is for the sake of peace, not only for the Arabs but the Israelis."

The senior U.S. official told reporters there would be only one treaty but that separate documents would spell out special assurances from one country to another — for example from Egypt to the United States.

"We are no longer working on either an Israeli or an Egyptian draft agreement," Kissinger said. "We are working on a text that is partially agreed and partially disagreed. When it is finally finished it will be the common consensus of both sides."

"We are going through formulations of matters, most of which are agreed, and it depends what expression they can be given. That is what we are spending a great deal of our time on in addition to bilateral Israeli-U.S. matters."

The three-nation treaty would contain Egyptian pledges to ease its economic and trade boycott and political and propaganda campaign against Israel. Egypt would also agree to let Israel keep its $150 million Umm Khashiba main advance warning base on the slopes of the Gidi Pass.

The proposed pact also calls for American technicians to man early warning stations between Israeli and Egyptian armies in Sinai, a move which Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he opposes.

Pa. to be hit hard by shortage

Natural gas crisis on Ford's list

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford will meet with 17 governors to seek ways of easing a record natural gas shortage expected to strike the United States this winter, the White House said Tuesday.

Administration officials said Ford wants to outline the impending shortage state-by-state for the governors, most of whom represent states likely to be among the hardest hit, and then throw the floor open for ideas about how to deal with the problem.

Governors from the 14 gas consuming states likely to be hardest hit by shortages — California, Delaware, Iowa, Kentucky, Maryland, Missouri, New York, New Jersey, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Virginia, and West Virginia — were invited to the White House meeting Thursday.

In addition, a White House spokesman said, the meeting will include the governors of Texas and Louisiana, the nation's main producers of natural gas, and Gov. Thomas Salmon of Vermont, head of the energy committee of the National Governors Conference.

Ford will decide what new natural gas policies to adopt within a day or two after his meeting with the governors, the spokesman said.

Although Ford is about to wipe out the present comprehensive federal controls over petroleum allocation and pricing, administration sources said he was seriously considering a request to Congress for authority to maintain through next winter the government's regulation of propane allocation and prices.

Propane is the bottled gas widely used to heat homes in farming areas. It also is an alternative to which users of natural gas from pipelines might try to turn in the event their supplies were cut off.

Federal energy experts expect natural gas supplies to fall about 15 per cent short of the nation's needs this winter, creating a shortage about 50 per cent worse than the one last winter. That would make this winter the worst ever faced by U.S. gas consumers.

The head of Ford's natural gas task force, Bruce Pasternack, told UPI the shortage will be felt most severely by industries that burn gas. But he said there is "a remote possibility ... in the mid-Atlantic states" of residential gas curtailments as well, despite the high priority given to residential use.

North Carolina is likely to be the hardest hit state in the nation because it is served by only one pipeline, and that pipeline has serious supply problems of its own, Pasternack said.

House panel head urges tax cuts be permanent

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Al Ullman, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, proposed Tuesday making permanent the $7.7 billion in tax cuts for individuals enacted this spring to bring the country out of the recession.

As passed in April, the tax cut was to have been a one-time economic stimulant. The administration has not decided whether it favors an extension. Economic spokesmen say that decision can be put off until October.

If the tax cut is not extended in 1976, taxes would automatically rise starting Jan. 1. Paychecks would reflect an increase in tax withholding.

Ullman also called for extending for one more year the business tax cut of about $2.5 billion achieved through a reduction of corporate income tax rates, and proposed extending through 1977 the $3.3 billion increase in the investment tax credit which otherwise would expire Dec. 31, 1976.

Ullman's proposals were made known in a committee pamphlet describing ideas members want considered when the panel starts drafting a tax reform bill after Congress returns from recess next month.

For individuals, the tax cuts which Ullman proposed making permanent were:

Raising the minimum standard deduction from $1,300 to $1,600 and to $1,900 for joint returns; increasing the percentage standard deduction from 15 to 16 per cent and the maximum standard deduction from $2,000 to $2,300 for single persons and to $2,600 for joint returns; and giving every taxpayer, taxpayer's spouse and dependent a tax credit of $30. A credit is an amount subtracted from taxes owed.

The 1975 corporate tax cut, which Ullman would extend through 1976, reduces to 20 per cent the tax rate corporations pay on the first $50,000 of profit. Under the old scale, firms paid 22 per cent on the first $25,000 of profit and the full 48 per cent corporate income tax rate on additional profit.

The investment tax credit was increased from 7 to 10 per cent to induce firms to buy new equipment. The credit permits firms to receive a tax refund on 10 per cent of the cost of new equipment.

Even if the administration chooses to oppose them, Ullman's tax cut proposals are expected to gather broad support in Congress.

U.S. posts gain in exports

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States posted its sixth straight monthly trade surplus in July despite an ominous rise in oil imports, the Commerce Department reported Tuesday.

The value of American goods shipped overseas in July once again exceeded the value of imported products, making the surprising strength of foreign trade one of the few bright spots in an uneven economic picture.

July's surplus, $977 million seasonally adjusted, was the fourth biggest on record — but well under June's all-time high surplus of $1.74 billion.

The Commerce Department said the surplus was achieved despite a 14.7 per cent — or $973 million — rise in imports.

About $666 million came from increased imports of crude oil and petroleum products. Another $168 million was due to bigger shipments of foreign-made automobiles.

Overall, imports totaled $7.91 billion. Exports, at $8.88 billion, were at the second highest level this year.

Exports rose 2.2 per cent, or $193 million, over the June level. Increases centered on soybeans at $181 million; motor vehicles and parts, $74 million; wheat, $49 million; and grain sorghums, $42 million.

Commerce Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton emphasized the dark side of the trade picture.

"Our dependence on foreign oil has increased over the past year and imports now amount to about 40 per cent of our total petroleum requirements."

Major power failure leads to more jitters in Portugal

LISBON (UPI) — A power failure blacked out Portugal, Tuesday, causing jitters and renewed rumors of a possible coup. Prime Minister Vasco Gonçalves met with his cabinet in an apparent attempt to show the nation he was still in power.

Information Minister Jorge Correia Jesuino said the cabinet had agreed to push ahead with Gonçalves' communist-backed program.

Several Lisbon newspapers reported that army chief Gen. Carlos Fabiao, a moderate, had abandoned earlier demands that he replace Gonçalves as prime minister.

The Socialist newspaper Jornal Novo also reported that President Francisco da Costa Gomes and military security chief Gen. Otelo Saraiva de Carvalho had overruled Gonçalves and reinstated nine army officers ousted from the military's powerful Revolutionary Council for publishing a moderate political program.

In the central town of Leiria, crowds again gathered outside the Communist party headquarters where troops fired on an anti-Communist mob early Tuesday, killing one man and wounding 10 others.

About 2,000 demonstrators attacked the Leiria Communist headquarters for the second time in 24 hours. Army troops assigned to protect the Communists exchanged gunfire with the protesters and hurled tear gas grenades into the crowd.

The capital, nervous under a continuing flow of rumors, suffered more alarm when a power breakdown blacked out most of the country for almost one and a half hours.

As the lights flickered off, numerous reports of troop movements and political agitation flowed through Lisbon, but all of these proved to be false.

There were conflicting reports about the cause of the blackout.

Grid coach, Jaycees 'honored' by NOW

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — University of Texas football coach Darrell Royal and the local Jaycees Tuesday were named winners of the first "Barefoot and Pregnant" award by the Austin Chapter of the National Organization for Women for their alleged efforts to hinder women's equality.

"They can frame it or use it for toilet paper or whatever they want to do with it," said Donna Walker-Ashworth, president of the local NOW chapter.

"This award is the antithesis of our Susan B. Anthony award. It's given to the person who has done the most to hinder women's struggle for equal rights."

She said Royal was picked because of his opposition to Title 9 regulations issued by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare requiring more emphasis on women's athletic programs.

The Texas athletic director said if the school was required to split proceeds equally from its football program with women's sports, several men's sports programs would have to be canceled for lack of funds.

"Coach Royal has a right to oppose Title 9 if he wants to," Ms. Walker-Ashworth said. "But we feel his going to Washington and airing his personal prejudice is a little extreme."

She said the Jaycees were cited for their antiquated policy of not admitting women members.

"Most of our women are professional women, and it's rather irritating when an organization like that won't even look at your credentials."

Ms. Walker-Ashworth said the NOW chapter planned to have the proclamation printed and ready to present to the winner on Tuesday. But the members couldn't decide until the last minute who should get the prize.

Officials caught in bind

Tapes dilemma unsolved

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Caught between court orders and congressional demands, two administration officials must appear before a Senate committee today to explain why they cannot produce Nixon era tapes and documents on intelligence activities.

A spokesman for the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence said White House Counsel Philip Buchen and General Services Administrator Arthur F. Sampson must appear before the panel at 9 a.m. EDT today.

The Justice Department Monday said that Buchen and Sampson, as custodians of the Nixon documents and tapes, had been placed in "unreasonable jeopardy" because the courts say the documents must be impounded while the Senate committee says the documents must be handed over.

The pair were served with subpoenas Aug. 12 demanding material relating to 1970 CIA activities in Chile and plans by President Richard M. Nixon to use illegal methods to crush anti-war and other groups he considered dissident.

The problem for Buchen and Sampson is that last October the U.S. district court in Washington ruled that the tons of Nixon documents and tapes be impounded until the dispute over who owns them — Nixon or the government — is resolved.

The Justice Department went back to the court last Friday and Monday seeking a release from the ruling so that Buchen and Sampson would be able to turn the documents over.

The court Monday gave Nixon and his lawyers, who claim only the Nixon family has the right to decide what can be released or suppressed, 13 days to give reasons why the Senate shouldn't get the files it wants.

Senate committee sources said the panel was "very pleased" that the White House was trying to produce the material, but that Buchen and Sampson would still have to appear today.

PUC for four months earlier this year, but he was removed from the commission in April, when the Senate defeated his nomination by a 22-28 vote — 12 short of the 34 votes needed to be confirmed to an eight-year term.

Shapp would not say what effect the Denenberg announcement would have on the delicate negotiations between his office and the Senate aimed at getting Kalodner confirmed.

The Senate has offered Shapp a deal of sorts — submit the name of former Sen. Thomas Lamb, D-Allegheny, to fill a PUC vacancy, and then the Senate will consider a confirmation vote for Kalodner.

He was asked if his plans would change if Senate leaders — notably Majority Leader Thomas Nolan, D-Allegheny, oppose another try to get Denenberg on the PUC.

"I want to reserve comment on that at this time," Shapp said. "My intention at the present moment is to submit Denenberg's name to the Senate and let the Senate make its final decision. If it is an absolutely hopeless situation, then I'd like to discuss it again."

There was immediate reaction in the Senate.

Sen. Joseph Ammerman, D-Centre, head of the Rules and Executive nominations committee, said he does not believe Shapp is serious.

Since leaving government, Denenberg has been working for a Philadelphia radio station and writing a weekly column for the Philadelphia Bulletin.

Interesting in laws

BUFFALO, N.Y. — Mrs. Gladys Pounds didn't get along with her son-in-law, John F. Yuhas, and so she hired a contract killer to murder him, police charged Tuesday. Yuhas' body was found in the trunk of his abandoned car on the New York State Thruway Sunday. Police said Yuhas, 57, had been shot three times in the head, stabbed seven times in the body and beaten with a pool cue. Mrs. Pounds, 71, who lived with Yuhas and his wife, was charged with conspiracy in her son-in-law's death. Yuhas' widow, Mona, 51, his sister-in-law, Mrs. Margaret Alvey, 52, Mrs. Alvey's daughter, Linda Smith, 30, and the daughter's boyfriend, James F. Butler, 35, also were charged in connection with the death police said.

Bicen unit fires John Denver

DENVER — For the two meetings he attended, singer John Denver was an effective force on the Colorado Centennial-Bicentennial Commission. It was just that other members thought he should show up more often. After hearing complaints from others on the 16-member commission, Gov. Richard Lamm, who appointed the entertainer to the commission earlier this year, agreed to ask for his resignation. An aide to the governor said Denver would be named to "some sort of honorary position."

Jitterbug makes comeback

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. — Among the orientation seminars for new students this fall at Penn State is a session on "jitterbug lessons." "We've had quite a few campus dances featuring the 1950s theme," a university official said. "These events, called 'greaser hops,' include dancing to 'oldies but goodies.' Last year, some students started giving jitterbug lessons on their own in one residence hall area, so we thought we'd try it as an orientation activity." Who will do the teaching? "We couldn't get any 'older people,' like those now in their early 30s, who would know, so we're using the kids who taught in the residence hall last year," the official said.

Another Argentinian crisis

Buenos Aires, Argentina — Argentina's civilian government erupted into another crisis Tuesday night with President Isabel Peron voicing support of her top army chief, despite demands by a group of generals for his ouster. An army spokesman said Mrs. Peron reiterated her confidence in Army Commander Lt. Gen. Alberto N. Laplane at a meeting at the presidential residence. Earlier, military sources said Laplane had decided to resign as army commander in a dispute over the appointment of an army colonel to the cabinet.

Mafia likes L.A.

LOS ANGELES — Los Angeles could become "one of the rottenest cities in the world" because of the foothold the Mafia has established here, according to a private memorandum to the City Council from Police Chief Edward M. Davis. The Los Angeles Times said it obtained a copy of the memorandum in which Davis said unequivocally that the Mafia was moving into the Los Angeles area through the pornography business which he called "a lucrative, filthy plum." Davis has said in recent weeks that the Mafia was moving into Los Angeles and Mayor Tom Bradley asked the Police Commission last week to report to him on the validity of the claim.

Sun won't rise on business firm

TOKYO — A major pulp and textile manufacturer, reported to be about $500 million in debt, announced Tuesday it will petition for bankruptcy in Japan's biggest business failure since World War II. Prices on the Tokyo Stock Exchange fell sharply during the day after newspapers reported that Kohjin, Ltd., a pulp firm which branched out into real estate, housing and textiles, had been denied further credit by three major banks which had previously given it their backing.

No cancer for Slayton

HOUSTON — Cancer specialists Tuesday removed a tiny benign tumor from the left lung of Donald "Deke" Slayton and said America's oldest astronaut should easily recover to fly in space again. "I'd say he's an extremely lucky man," said Dr. Charles Berry, the former chief astronaut physician. "Frozen sections of the nodule revealed no evidence of malignancy." Doctors told Slayton before surgery it was a better than 50 per cent chance the lesion was cancer because of his age and the fact he had smoked heavily for 30 years. Slayton, 51, the last active member of the original seven Mercury astronauts, underwent a 2½ hour operation for removal of the growth about the size of a pencil eraser. Doctors said he should be able to leave the hospital in 10 to 12 days.

Rhodesian peace talks end

SALISBURY, Rhodesia — Premier Ian Smith told parliament Tuesday the constitutional conference with Rhodesia's black nationalist leaders had broken down without agreement and blamed the black leaders for the failure.

Ford traveling as party leader

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House said Tuesday President Ford has been traveling not as a candidate but as a party leader whose expenses will be paid by the Republican National Committee, probably until Jan. 1. Press Secretary Ron Nessen said it has not been decided when Ford would begin traveling as a candidate in his own right, but it was not likely to be before the end of the year. Ford returned Monday from a 15-day vacation, which included several political appearances. He will visit Maine and Rhode Island Saturday on the first of a series of weekend appearances planned through September and October. "Incumbent presidents do have a role as leader of their party which is quite separate from their role as a candidate," Nessen said. "This is not something that is happening for the first time in American history," he said. "It's natural and normal." Nessen said Ford's political trips were "clearly for the benefit of the Republican Party" and all funds raised

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)

— U. S. District Judge K. K. Hall fined 40 striking coal miners $500 each Tuesday, but indications were that a crippling walkout by 40,000 workers might grow larger.

The fines, the latest of several penalties against the strikers, seemed only to fuel a wildcat walkout which an industry spokesman estimated had cut the nation's coal production by nearly 2.2 million tons.

Normally, between 11 million and 12 million tons of coal are produced in the United States each week.

There was no clear leadership in the protest and many miners, while honoring picket lines, seemed confused.

"They're saying that by Wednesday the whole nation will be out," said Alvin Clay, 23, of Beckley, W. Va. "I guess that's what's going to happen. It's pretty rough, especially on people with larger families. Here it is school time and clothes to buy for the kids. Some will be able to eat out of their gardens, but that doesn't pay the bills."

There was an atmosphere of tension and fear in the coal fields.

"Don't use my name," said a miner. "I don't want to get in trouble. But younger miners cause a lot of the strikes — young guys who are not married and just want to work two or three days. If they can make a car payment, that's all they need."

As the walkout progressed in defiance of court orders and appeals from union leaders, rail companies began laying off some workers involved in coal mine shipments.

In Washington, a spokesman for the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service said it was not likely the government would intervene because "the matter is already before the courts."

At the heart of the protest was a demand by strikers that a "right to strike" clause be inserted in the 1974 union contract, which runs until December, 1977. The leadership of the United Mine Workers rejected the proposal, saying it could not legally reopen contract talks.

Joseph P. Brennan, president of the Bituminous Coal Operators' Association, the bargaining agent for most of the nation's producers, said the association had "no intention" of reopening contract negotiations with the UMW.

Ford can't stop boycott of Russian grain loading

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford Tuesday failed to persuade AFL-CIO President George Meany to call off a longshoremen's boycott against loading grain for shipment to the Soviet Union.

After a 90-minute White House meeting, Meany said the boycott would continue while Ford's spokesmen said only that "no decisions" were reached and further top-level talks would be held on the issue.

"The situation has not changed in any way whatsoever," Meany said as he strode to his limousine after the meeting with Ford, Labor Secretary John Dunlop and representatives of the maritime unions.

Asked whether the boycott would continue, Meany replied: "Yes, sir."

Atlantic and Gulf Coast longshoremen have been refusing to load the nearly 10 million tons of American grains recently purchased by the Soviets, and Meany has demanded assurances the grain sales will not boost domestic prices or hurt U.S. shipping interests.

After Meany's departure, the White House issued a statement describing the Cabinet room conference as a "preliminary" meeting in which "no decisions were made."

"There will be further meetings between administration officials and Mr. Meany and his associates," the statement said. "The President will participate in the future meetings as appropriate."

"The meeting explored the matters of grain exports, living costs and maritime issues."

Press Secretary Ron Nessen said the statement summed up what the participants at the meeting agreed to say and refused to elaborate.

Reminded that Meany has announced the boycott would continue, Nessen remarked: "That's not something the White House would say."

The boycott, which was imposed more than a month ago, has led to only one major incident in which longshoremen refused to load grain onto ships in the Houston harbor. That work stoppage ended after one day under a court injunction.

Kent St. jurors still confused by charge

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Jurors in the $46 million Kent State University civil trial found two more wording errors Tuesday in the 76-page instruction given them by U.S. District Judge Don J. Young.

The jury questioned portions of the charge dealing with nine Ohio National Guard officers on campus May 4, 1970, when four students were killed and nine wounded by guardsmen during an antiwar demonstration.

They also questioned the part concerning 17 former guard enlisted men still defendants in the case.

Shortly before 6 p.m., the jurors retired for the night without reaching a verdict, returning under guard to their hotel.

The basis for the jurors' question was precisely the same as on Monday, when they questioned part of the charge covering Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Young set out a multiple-choice format of questions the jury was to consider in determining whether defendants were liable for damages. The confusion arose because, in each case, one question was worded so as to call for a "no" answer when the others called for "yes" answers.

Young reworded the applicable portions with the consent of lawyers representing both sides and explained the new terms to jurors, who returned to deliberations.

A faulty projector was repaired earlier Tuesday so jurors could view films of the shootings.

The jury of six men and six women was in its fourth day of deliberations.

The film, taken with an inexpensive camera at several hundred feet distance, was scratchy and blurred but was one of the 300 to 400 items of evidence for the jury to consider in determining whether state officials and former Ohio National Guardsmen are liable for damages.

Democratic convention site vote set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Democrats decide today whether to hold their 1976 national convention in New York City or Los Angeles.

New York is reported to be the preference of Democratic National Chairman Robert S. Strauss, but no one is dismissing the Los Angeles bid for the meeting expected to start July 12, 1976.

Before voting, the national committee's 20-member site selection committee will listen to last-minute sales pitches from both cities and to recommendations of its professional staff.

Quality blackboards came from Slate Belt quarries

Editor's Note: This is the second in a four-part series on the history of slate, how it is quarried and finished and the status of the industry today.

By MAUREEN RUFE
Pocono Record Reporter

WIND GAP — Weona Park was buzzing with excitement in anticipation for the first event in the big slate centennial contest to begin. Hundreds of quarriers and their families spewed into the tree-shaded park on Rte. 512 in Pen Argil to see just who would be able to split a one-inch thick piece of slate into the most pieces.

It was a Bangor man who stepped out midway during the contest and split a small rectangle of slate into 48 thin slices, without cracking any of them.

The year was 1936, 100 years after the first quarry in Northampton County was opened by Samuel Taylor and James M. Porter. At that time, the slate that came out of the first quarries was shipped down the Delaware River to Philadelphia. Later it was taken by wagon to the railroad in Philipsburg and eventually the railroads came to the quarries.

The slate finds here in Pennsylvania are only one of five major slate deposits ever to be discovered and worked in the United States.

In addition to the slate mined and worked in Northampton and Lehigh Counties, quarrying has also been done in the Peach Bottom District of Lancaster and York Counties, and in Hartford County, Md. Slate is quarried in Bennington and Rutland Counties in Vermont and in Washington County in New York. Piscataquis County in Maine and in Buckingham and Pluvanna Counties in Virginia.

Greatest in world

The slate vein in Pennsylvania, however, which comprises only 22 miles, is the greatest slate producing region in the entire world. The quarries here produce the best, if not the only quality blackboards in the world in terms of their smoothness, permanence and clearness.

Since the very first quarry opened in Slateford in 1836, it is estimated that more than 75 quarries were opened and operated in both Lehigh and Northampton Counties. Among the pioneer quarries are the Slateford Group, which actively operated from 1836, the Bangor Group, which operated from about 1853, the Pen Argil-Wind Gap group, which operated from about 1854 and the Plicksville Group, which operated from about 1865.

In 1854 Joseph Kellow and Robert Chapman opened up the first quarry in the Pen Argil-Wind Gap Group on the Michael Delp's farm. A year later Kellow sold out his interests and opened the Eureka Quarry in the Delabole area.

These two holes later became part of the property of the Jackson Bangor Slate Company along with the Hercules (known as the Masters and Jackson No. 2 Quarry), the Diamond Quarry, Valley (Jackson No. 5) Quarry, Jackson No. 6 Quarry and the Jackson No. 7 Quarry.

Famous quarries

Other famous quarries included the Grand Central operated actively from 1880 to 1919, the Alpha and Acme Quarries, the New Diamond, Doney Brothers and Tinsman Quarries.

The American Bangor Quarry opened in 1875 and the Albion Quarry was opened in 1878 as the Courtney Quarry.

The Parsons Brothers Quarry was once the deepest in the Slate Belt with its holes plunging to a depth of 765 feet. This quarry was operated on four separate levels at one time and operated throughout the year. During the summers, the deeper levels were worked and the upper levels were worked during the winter.

The second deepest hole was the Albion vein at Stoddard's Quarry; the depth there plunged to 600 feet. In 1936 this quarry became entirely electrified and at the time was the largest working quarry in the United States. It employed 240 men.

One source indicates that in 1925 the same quarry employed about 300 men, issued a payroll of $300,000 and recorded blackboard sales amounting to 1,000,000 square feet.

Night crews used

The Parsons quarry worked around the clock with its night crews carrying down lanterns into the hole so they could see. The lanterns were also standard equipment for many of the men who worked in the deeper holes. Legend has it that the holes plunged so far down into the ground in some of the quarries that when a man was working against the sides of the quarry at the bottom of the hole, he could not see the sky.

There were some accidents and near accidents with men falling when the hook came loose from the bucket (a huge metal box that carried the men into the hole) and threatened to hurl them hundreds of feet below onto the solid rock.

One of the humorous episodes that is still recounted by old time quarriers today, occurred at the site of the Albion Quarry. One family who split slate in a tiny shanty on the edge of the hole, reportedly built a chicken coop nearby so that it could tend the birds at the same time the family members put in their slate splitting hours.

Suddenly, the earth slid right out from under the coop, and the chickens and their house tumbled end over end into the deep hole below. The coop reportedly landed right side up, however, and not a chicken was hurt.

Horses used first

When the quarries were first being worked, slate was hauled out with wheelbarrows and later by horses. It was not until the holes got deeper that derricks were installed to lower the workers into the holes and lift the slate out.

For many of the quarry workers, regular paydays were unknown, since all their goods and supplies were purchased from the general store run by their quarry. Their bill would be taken out of their weekly pay check and especially through the winter months, when quarry work was slow, there was a long-running account to pay off.

The average man worked a 12-hour day and the first day of each month was declared a quarry holiday. The morning was spent cleaning the rubbish out of the hole and also cleaning the shanties above the holes.

It was in 1893 that the first channeling machine, the machine used to cut out the huge chunks of slate from the quarry, was installed at the Albion Quarry. It was quite a step in those days to the quarry men, although the channeling machine was far inferior to the wire saw used today.

Slate dust from channeling machines, interestingly enough, was added to salt and water to be used as fire brick for stoves at one time.

Record-size block

In 1890, a huge block of slate, which produced five squares (a square of slate is enough to cover an area 100 square feet) and eight feet of roofing slate was raised at one time from the Albion Quarry. The size was phenomenal for the time and it became a local legend, since the entire block was said to be worth as much as a $20 goldpiece.

One of the earliest deaths ever recorded at the quarry operations occurred in 1866 at the Pennsylvania Quarry when Louis Sandt was killed by a dynamite blast, which at first didn't go off and later exploded as it was being drilled off.

In 1899 two men were killed as they were blasting through a piece of slate in an 80-foot hole.

One of the worst near accidents occurred in 1927 when 12 men were being lowered down into the hole at the Masters Quarry. The men had gone down in the bucket so many times that they hung their feet over the sides instead of holding onto the side chain. Many were so used to the ride, they'd simply grab hold of the slate hook and ride down on the chain in that fashion.

As the 12 men were lowered over the center of the hole, two of the three chains on the bucket unhooked, and the men grabbed onto the bucket and each other and dangled for nearly a half hour over a hole 300-feet deep. They were all rescued, however.

Marksmen employed

During the wintertime, the quarries employed marksmen to shoot off the ice from the sides of the quarry, so that it would not slip over the quarry walls and hurt the workers below.

The average pay per year in 1917 was about $800; the worker earned $1.25 to $1.40 a day. There were no strikes until after 1907.

Pasties, composed of meat, potatoes and onions, wrapped in a piecrust, which sometimes measured a foot across, was the standard lunch. This was a tradition brought over from the English quarries.

Some men had to walk 10 to 15 miles to work every day before the trolley took workers back and forth after 1900. One trolley ran every hour during quarry time. The men traveled to work five and a half days a week by this means until the early 1930's.

At the Albion quarry, as in many others, the starting whistle sounded at 7 a.m. with the morning piece (the equivalent of our coffee break) held at 9 a.m. This was the first of two lunches. The second was eaten at noon. At 4:30 a loud siren signaled the close of the day.

Company halts competition

An important development in the history of slate, which cannot be overlooked, is the establishment of the Structural Slate Company in 1917. It was formed because of the fierce competition that had arisen between the local quarries. Pen Argil quarriesmen felt deeply that the Bangor slate was not as good as theirs and vice versa. Although many of the men worked on the same vein, they threatened to fight each other over the quality of their own products.

The Structural Slate Company was responsible for selling, as well as financing, was nearly 100 per cent successful, and became the largest producer of slate in the United States. The owners of the quarries became actual stock holders in the Structural Slate Company and thereby received an equal share of profits from the operation.

The Structural Slate Company today has 11 representatives located throughout the United States to sell the products that the local Pen Argil and Wind Gap quarries produce.

Pa. House to oust legislator quickly

HARRISBURG (UPI) — The Pennsylvania House of Representatives is expected today to end the brief political career of Rep. Leonard E. Sweeney, a Pittsburgh attorney convicted last month on federal mail fraud charges.

Indications were Tuesday that Sweeney, D-Allegheny, has little chance of saving his House seat. Sweeney, 32, was elected just last year.

House Speaker Herbert Fineman, D-Philadelphia, called the special session because a majority of the 203 House members questioned in a mail poll last week said they wanted to dispose of the "Sweeney matter" as soon as possible.

Sweeney was convicted July 30 on charges of helping to swindle money from insurance companies by submitting false accident claims. He was sentenced to three years in prison and fined $3,000.

He plans to appeal the conviction and to fight the ouster attempt.

It is the first time in almost a century that the House has convened to dump one of its own members. But it will be the fourth time in the House history that a member has faced an expulsion vote.

In April of 1840, Bedford County legislator Thomas B. McElwee was expelled from the House for "conduct unbecoming a member." He "spit full in the face" of Rep. Charles Hegins of Northumberland County during a floor fight.

Hegins responded by punching McElwee in the face.

Two other legislators were expelled in May of 1876 — one for offering to buy votes and another for selling his vote — in a scandal over a bill to increase state regulated tolls for lumber equipment rentals.

Ironically, people who rely on Pennsylvania's official manual for history will find no mention of either case. It simply states that the three served out their House terms.

Earlier this year, the state Senate, after weeks of political maneuvering, expelled former Sen. Frank Mazzei, another Allegheny County Democrat, after he was convicted of extortion.

Few observers think Sweeney has a chance to save his House seat. They say the chamber wants to dispose of the matter as quickly as possible because of the criticism the Senate got for its handling in the Mazzei matter.

The House rules committee will meet this morning to consider one of the three resolutions that have been introduced seeking Sweeney's ouster.

Then the matter will be reported to the House floor, where 136 votes are required to expel a member.

"Sweeney's only chance — and it would only delay things for a while — would come if there weren't enough members on the floor to expel him," said one House spokesman.

However, he noted that some legislators are returning to Harrisburg from hundreds of miles away to vote on the Sweeney matter. One member is cutting his vacation in Hawaii short.

"This is one of those things where everyone wants to get on the record with his vote," he said.

Woman conquers mighty Mississippi

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — When Rebecca Johnson left Lake Itasca, Minn., May 22, she was excited at the thought of being the first woman to paddle the entire length of the Mississippi River alone in a canoe.

"But during those first three weeks out I wanted to go back home at least five times a day," Ms. Johnson, 23, of Iowa City, Iowa, said Tuesday at the end of her solo 2,400-mile canoe trip.

She was scoffed at, cursed, gawked at, nearly run over by a tugboat, robbed, and once watched a crow and a racoon fight over her food at her riverbank campsite.

"I'd think, 'God, what am I doing here?' I'd stop and sleep on it and then in the morning I'd say, 'Far out — let's get on down this river,'" Ms. Johnson said.

She completed her 96-day adventure Monday, paddling into the New Orleans area with tanned skin, sun-bleached hair, tattered clothes, and calloused hands.

"I'd like a cold beer," she said.

A brown and white puppy hopped out of her canoe, snuggled into a shady spot of cool Mississippi mud and wagged its tail.

"We made it, Crystal!" Ms. Johnson said. She said she found the dog running from a dogcatcher at Crystal City, Mo., where she had stopped for fresh water.

Ms. Johnson, a senior journalism student at the University of Iowa whose husband supported her adventure, said most people she met along the river were friendly and generous, but skeptical.

"They told me, 'lady, there's just no way in hell you'll ever make it.' One man near Memphis cursed at me for even being on the river."

"When I got to within 200 miles of New Orleans, people asked me where I was going and then they'd say, 'lady, it's a long, long way to New Orleans.' I'd say, 'Not when you've already paddled 2,200 miles.'"

Great Train Robber sent back to jail for shoplifting

LONDON (UPI) — A parole member of the gang that got away with $7 million in the Great Train Robbery was sentenced Tuesday to return to jail for six months—for shoplifting.

Ronald "Buster" Edwards, whose share of the robbery loot was said to have been $425,000, pleaded guilty to stealing $143 worth of women's shirts, pliers and staples from Harrod's department store.

He was released on $1,100 bail after announcing he would appeal the sentence.

Edwards's share of the train robbery loot never has been recovered. After the holdup, he fled to Belgium and Mexico before returning to Britain to give himself up. He is one of three of the robbers who have won parole.

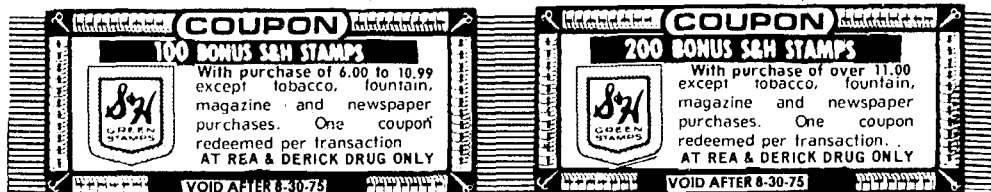

The shoplifting conviction was a setback for Edwards, who had promised on his release from prison in April that he was "going straight."

Ann Landers

Name game

Dear Ann Landers: My cousin Ruth has been trying to get pregnant for five years. Last week she and her husband had an opportunity to adopt a baby boy and were thrilled. They decided to name the child Gerald Ford after our President.

My sister Mary is furious. She is seven months pregnant and has the same last name as this cousin. Mary planned to name HER baby Gerald Ford — or Geraldine, if it's a girl. Cousin Ruth stole the idea from Mary and she admits it.

This has created a terrible family fight like you wouldn't believe. Mary says if cousin Ruth doesn't choose another name she will never allow her to set foot in her house again. Who is right?

Bystander

Dear By: You can't get a trademark on a child's name. Your sister should name her child something else, like maybe Nelson — or Nellie if it's a girl.

Dear Ann Landers: I'd like to warn your readers against putting too much faith in palm readers, fortune tellers and the like. Such confidence inadvertently caused the death of one of my good friends. He was only 30.

Mr. R. was told by a "professional" soothsayer that he would live to be 72 years old. He believed it and lived dangerously. This young man drove a motorcycle without a helmet at frightening speeds, did mountain climbing without the proper equipment, etc.

He was a good swimmer but did some reckless things — like going out too far in the Pacific Ocean. I warned him a few times but he always said, "I'm going to live to be 72 — remember?"

Last week he took one chance too many and was drowned in the Pacific.

This 30-year-old, handsome, bright, vital young man left no will because he thought he had another 42 years left.

I hope you will print this letter as a warning to others.

Sad Friend

Dear Friend: He may have been handsome and vital — but bright he wasn't.

Thanks for the warning. I hope my readers who have been similarly "assured" will take heed.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 16-year-old girl who wants to know if I'm wrong to feel this way.

My mother wants a complete report every time I go out with a guy. She asks, "Did he kiss you? Did he keep his hands where they belong? Did he ask you to go all the way? Did he talk about any other girls?"

And on and on.

When I tell her I think she is nosy she gets mad and says, "You tell your girl friend everything, why not tell me?"

What is your opinion of this, Ann? I trust your advice.

A Daughter

Dear Daughter: Some daughters WANT to discuss such details with their mothers. Others do not. Since obviously you do not, I believe your mother shouldn't quiz you.

Dear Ann Landers: I have a problem which is rather strange. It seems people keep inviting me places, setting dates and sometimes naming the place, promising to call to establish the time and then they don't call. I mean they don't even call to cancel or confirm. No one ever apologizes for standing me up. This happens about two times out of three, with both men and women.

When I say, "I was expecting to hear from you," they reply, "It was just tentative." Or, "Oh, yes, we talked about it, but that was all."

One man said just yesterday, "I couldn't make it last Tuesday and was unable to get in touch with you. I didn't want to call until a few days had passed because I figured you'd be boiling mad!"

What do you make of this? —

Wiggling Out

Dear Wig: You obviously have two problems. One is communication and another is your choice of friends.

In the future, when you make a date, and the time or place isn't nailed down, tell the other party YOU will call and verify the details. In that way you can control the situation.

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell "Regrets in Ohio" that her story gave me the final prod to stop smoking. And I mean today.

For several months I told myself I was going to stop smoking "tomorrow" or "next week." The facts were, I really didn't enjoy smoking. I hated the smell and the mess. But it was the "Regrets" letters that stunned me into awareness. I sat down and asked myself, "Why am I continuing to indulge in a habit that is distasteful, dirty, expensive, and will kill me before my time?" The only answer that came to me was "You're the biggest fool I know."

I cut out the "Regrets" letters and am going to carry it with me. Every time I get the urge to smoke I will take it out and read it. I'll know it by heart soon. But that's okay. I plan to get a piggy bank to carry with me, and whenever I feel the urge to buy a pack of cigarettes, I'll put the money in the piggy bank. Six months from now I will double the amount I've saved and give it to the American Cancer Society.

I'll write again in six months (on February 15) to let you know how I did. I'll be ashamed if I have to report failure, but the idea that our dear friend in Ohio might see the letter will stiffen my resolve.

Shaken In North Carolina

— The Heart of Tobacco-Land

Dear Heart: Bravo, Baby! I'll be looking for your letter on February 15 and please know I am betting on YOU!

Carpenter ants causing problems in local homes

Carpenter ants

STROUDSBURG — The black carpenter ant is a common pest in wooden buildings throughout Pennsylvania. It often enters the house to get food or water and at times nests in the wood and damages structural timbers in the house. Long established colonies may cause severe injury to wood in the house.

The black carpenter (winged) ant can be recognized easily because it is the largest ant that invades the house. The workers vary in size from 1/4 to 1/2 an inch; the queen measures 3/4 of an inch.

In nature, carpenter ants nest in live and dead standing trees and in rotting logs and stumps. Hollows in live trees are especially attractive to them. At times, they nest in wooden poles and in structural wood in buildings. Only when they invade homes are they a problem, according to John E. Withrow, county agent.

Outdoors the ants feed on dead and living insects as well as on the honeydew secreted by aphids and other insects. Indoors, they feed on sweets and other foodstuffs. The workers have strong jaws and readily bite when disturbed; the bite smart like a sharp pinch.

A colony is started by a mated queen. She removes her wings before she begins to lay eggs. Eggs hatch into small larvae which are fed and taken care of by the workers. Prior to pupating, the larva spins a silk cocoon about itself. People erroneously call these cocoons "ant eggs." The adult ant emerges from the cocoon several weeks after it is formed.

The first eggs of the queen produce small workers. These go out to forage for food so that they can feed the queen and the larvae. As the colony grows larger, medium-sized and large workers are also produced. At normal spring and summer temperatures, it takes several months for the ants to develop from egg to adult. Ordinarily the colony does not produce the winged males and queens until it is more than two years old. The winged ants may appear in summer, remain in the nest and overwinter, emerging the following spring.

Infestations in houses are caused by mated queens entering the house or by an established colony invading the house. The latter may occur when nearby hollow trees are removed or the colony is otherwise disturbed. The ants start their colonies in damp wood, but once established they will excavate dry sound wood. They do not feed on the wood but carve out galleries for enlarged living quarters for the growing colony. The galleries are kept clean and smooth as though sandpaper was used. The sawdust chewed out by the ants is dumped outside the galleries.

An infestation of carpenter ants can be recognized by a persistent parade of ants, the presence of winged ants, sawdust from the galleries, and damaged lumber.

Some conditions that are responsible for damp or wet wood are poor ventilation, leaking roofs, lack of flashing, overflowing roof gutters and rain spouts, damp siding, water condensing around plumbing, leaking bathtubs and showers. Wood objects frequently attacked are porch pillars and supporting timbers, sills, girders, joists, studs, window and door trim.

To fight the invaders, first try to locate the nest. Then arm yourself with an ant and roach aerosol and with a screwdriver or ice pick. Probe suspected wood to see if it gives way under pressure. Apply the aerosol to suspicious crevices. If the ants come rushing out, you have hit pay dirt. Liquid sprays or aerosols containing chlordane or diazinon are especially effective against the carpenter ants.

If the nest cannot be located, and this is usually the case, apply the above sprays or aerosols wherever you see the ants. Frequent application of such sprays often slowly eliminates the colony. Sometimes ants from nearby hollow trees invade the house. Spray these hollow trees with water-base chlordane or diazinon sprays.

Follow all safety precautions listed on the pesticide label. Store pesticides under lock away from food or feed and inaccessible to children. Dispose of empty containers so that they are not a hazard to man or animal. Do not contaminate streams, ponds, and other water sources or endanger wildlife.

The county agent's office receives an average of 75 inquiries a year about the ants. Withrow says that the important fact to remember is not that the ants are seen in the house, but that there is a wood problem. The ants make their nests in vulnerable spots and start chewing on firm wood.

He says that, if the ants are spotted anywhere in the house, a check for nests and water leaks should be made all over the house, from porch to attic. The ants will often gain access by crawling along tree limbs that are close to the house. If the attic consists of only crawl space, the job is extra difficult.

The invasion usually starts with "snoopers," as Withrow calls them, a reconnaissance team that surveys the house, especially the kitchen and bath. Most people see only a few of these snoopers, and these may be effectively dealt with by using a fly swatter or vacuum cleaner.

At the time of swarming, when the ants are building nests, they have wings. It is at this stage that they are particularly dangerous. When the nests are established, the wings are shed.

Although winged, the carpenter ant is not related to the termite, but the two are often confused.

Frank Olive comments

Fashions have softened

NEW YORK (UPI) — Frank Olive, fashion designer, believes that clothes, like children, should be seen and not heard.

"What I mean is that to be fashionable is to be observed, not noticed," said the Milwaukee-born Olive. "You don't dress to make an entrance, to make the whole room stop. We used to have that ostentation when total glamour was the goal. I called it chandelier dressing."

"I can remember when you would see a woman at nine in the morning so done up you wondered where she was going, or coming from."

"Oh, there might be an occasional reason for ostentation. But the multitude of women today just do not indulge in that kind of thing."

"Dress is softer, more personal."

Olive defined the fashionable woman as "distinctive looking in her clothes. She wears an air of confidence, of assurance."

And she certainly is not caught up in fashion's vagaries. "She knows what suits her," said the designer. "She builds a wardrobe. She does not change it every season. That era is gone."

In turn, Olive said, he "resents" dress that has become "too totally casual. I don't like seeing levis everywhere. If you're going to the theater, a fine restaurant beforehand, I think the woman should reward her escort by being attractive. Why I've even seen women dining out with pins in their hair."

But Olive is pleased that the era when one fashionable figure could set a whole nation of women copying her has ended. There is no longer a Jacqueline Kennedy, who as First Lady in the early 1960s had women by the millions emulating her dress, including the famous pillbox hat.

"It was terrible to see women thinking if they didn't wear a pillbox, they weren't smart," he said. "They just had to wear one, no matter how it looked."

And this comes from a man whose business since the 1950s has been millinery.

He got into ready-to-wear last year ("although hats are my first love") simply because he believes a designer has to consider the whole costume look, "what goes around the neck, what goes on the feet..."

His fall and winter leisure wear collection includes "sort of jumpers" in suedelike fabric and woolsens, plus hostess dresses, skirts and vests, that work together in layered looks.

Olive takes his fashion message to women, and gets feedback from them, in regular visits to stores across the nation. He will leave his New York base Sept. 8 for a couple of days in New Orleans, and by the time he gets back in late October he will have visited stores and participated in fashion shows in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Los Angeles, Seattle, San Francisco, Cleveland, Chicago, Washington, and Atlanta.

"To survive," he said in an interview, "you have to get out and see what's going on."

The creation of the "total look" should come readily to the designer. He began his career as a costumer.

Exterminators experience more business in summer

By TOMI CASTELLI
Family Fare Editor

STROUDSBURG — Local exterminators have indicated that the carpenter ant problem here is much worse this summer, due to the rain and high humidity.

Ray Slider, of Pocono Pest Control and Chemical Co., says that his calls for professional help in eliminating the insects have increased 100 per cent this year.

Bernie Helman, of J.C. Ehrlich Co., says he has been swamped with calls this year. Weather conditions, he added, have driven the ants indoors.

Ray Flad, of the Plants and Design Center, says he has had many calls about preparations for controlling the pests. Chlordane sprays and dusting powders have been selling well.

Bill Miller, of Trader's Hardware, reports an increase in the sale of pesticides. The one most commonly used is chlordane in spray, dusts, wettable powder, and liquids. Ortho-chlor 44 and 74 are concentrates that have to be mixed, respectively, two tablespoons to the gallon and one table-

Volunteers needed in drive

EAST STROUDSBURG — The cystic fibrosis drive needs volunteers, especially high school students.

Mrs. King Beers, chairman for the East Stroudsburg area, says she is particularly interested in recruiting young canvassers since the disease strikes especially in the age bracket from infancy to 20.

The drive will begin on Sept. 7 and continue for a week. Door-to-door solicitations will be made.

Volunteers may call Mrs. Beers at 421-7170, or her co-chairman, Mrs. Carol MacNeil, at 424-2933.

Cranberry season arrives

STROUDSBURG — Cranberry season will soon be here. If you are not quite ready to face a turkey, why not try this delectable fruit with pork cuts?

Pork and cranberries are both important in the history of American cuisine. The tart red berries were already growing in American bogs when pigs were brought to these shores. Pork was a favorite staple in the colonial diet and early settlers quickly learned to combine it with the berries.

Cranberries may be used in breads, cookies, stuffing, casseroles, sauce, and even in desserts. Their flavor perks up many otherwise drab meals.

Cranberry growers have improved the varieties so that they are juicier and plumper than ever. Pork producers have kept pace by raising meatier and leaner hogs.

Termites

STROUDSBURG — Termites are subterranean insects. Their nests are rarely found and are usually made in wood of some kind, such as an old stump in the woods or lumber buried under or near houses.

During late winter or early spring, swarms of the reproductive caste may be noticed in infested buildings. These black, winged termites are the ones most commonly seen, since the other castes (workers and soldiers) do not expose themselves to light.

The winged forms are attracted to light, and when they emerge within buildings, they swarm about doors and windows. After crawling or fluttering about for a short time, the termites break off their wings and locate a mate. Each pair attempts to locate wood in contact with the soil, where it can start a new colony, but few succeed.

No damage is done by the winged forms. Their presence, however, is a sure sign that termites are at work in the building.

The easiest way to differentiate between the carpenter ants and termites is to look at the waists of the insects. An ant has a narrow, wasp-like waist, a termite a broad waist. In addition, the antennae or feelers of ants are "L" shaped, whereas those of termites are straight.

Wood attacked by termites has passages in it coated with an earth-like material glued to the wood by termites. Where the wood has been infested for some time, it may be largely hollowed out with passages and be rotten in appearance. Many of the hidden workers spill out when these passages are probed with a screwdriver or similar tool. These cream-colored ored workers are the ones that feed on wood and do the damage.

Accompanying the workers, but in lesser numbers, are the soldier termites with their elongated heads and large jaws. The soldiers protect the colony from other insects such as ants.

Another sign of termites in the house is the presence of termite tubes. These earth-colored tubes are made by termites for a number of reasons, primarily as a protected runway from the earth to the wood they feed on.

These tubes may also serve as swarming exits for the winged termites. Search for these tubes on the cellar walls, on wooden posts, studs, mudsills, door and window trim. Wood embedded in earth or in concrete cellar floors is especially susceptible to termites.

John E. Withrow, county agent, suggests that if you find winged insects in your house, take or mail specimens to him for identification.

Preventive measures may be taken on your property during the construction of a new house. A one per cent chlordane solution may be applied at the rate of four to eight gallons to each 10 linear feet of trench. The solution may be prepared by mixing one pint of 45 per cent chlordane emulsion in 12 gallons of water.

While chlordane has not been banned, it is still a controversial pesticide.

Where it is necessary to keep wood in contact with the ground, lumber can be pressure-treated with certain chemicals to resist attack by termites and decay fungi. This expensive lumber may be purchased at lumber yards.

Termite infestation under concrete slabs in basement floors can be treated through holes in the concrete. Drill holes 12 inches apart in a square pattern. With a bar, make holes two to three feet deep into the soil below and fill them with insecticide. Plug the holes with concrete in a day or two after the application.

Owners locking autos

STROUDSBURG — In these times of economic uncertainty, the United States can boast of at least one thriving growth industry that shows no signs of slowing down: auto theft.

The bright side of the grim statistics is the golden opportunity awaiting shrewd volume aftermarket merchandisers in automotive security devices. In 1973, one out of every 128 cars registered in the U.S. was stolen. In the northeast, the rate was 50 per cent higher.

While most of the nation seems willing to believe that New York is capable of most anything, the Empire State ran a poor fifth to Massachusetts, Rhode Island, California, and Nevada.

"Home and Auto" magazine surveyed a number of buyers for automotive chains in the top five auto theft states to see if the statistics were translated into security device sales at the register.

New York's Voice of Broadway

NEW YORK — Pearl Bailey has a personal invitation from Iran's Shah to bring her touring "Hello, Dolly" to Teheran to fortify whatever status Pearl now has in his will ... Groucho's taking legal leaps to adopt his live-in secretary companion Erin Fleming ... Film critic Judith Crist will appear in an X-rated porno flick: she'll moderate a panel in the continuity presumably "discussing" "Deep Throat" and other celluloid hardcore filth — which will no doubt add the "redeeming" touch of culture; "Come and Judge" is the title to beware ... "The Summer of Laura," gamey spinoff of "The Summer of '42," will star Helen Madigan in nude scenes; Helen was a Washington HEW computer operator before her readout suggested the naked take-off.

Sidney Poitier and Joanna Shimkus didn't bust up — just decided after two kids not to wed. They plan more babies: because birth control would diminish the black population and Sidney considers that "genocide" ... Tony Casciola's Vesuvio may be the oldest permanent floating Italian restaurant in town: it's in its 49th year on W. 48th St. near Bdwy.; where it moved in '36 after 35 years on Mulberry St. Buon-apetito ... Longtime co-producers Richard Barr and Charles Woodward split, the Sardi Set hears: Barr gets custody of Edward Albee. Interesting to know how much they've lost on recently bombing Albee plays; "Virginia Woolf" may have been the last Albee bonanza ... The "Fantasticks" (in its zillionth year) was written by Texans, directed by Texan Word Baker, now even has Texas in the show's lone-star gal's role: lovely Cheryl Horne, Dallas doll making her Bdwy. bow.

Montgomery Clift's brother Brooks (until now a TV commercial mummer) gets a star-part in the ethnicinted "The Bingo Long Traveling All-Stars and Motor Kings" flick (now filming with James Earl Jones, Billy Dee Williams, Richard Pryor); Brooks is from Atlanta — he plays the first white team owner to sign a black player the film's about a touring indie black baseball team in the 1930s ... Why not a film about the cons-ago famed Jewish "House of David" touring team which camouflaged many a shayguts shagging gies behind obligatory quite real orthodox beards.

Tito's getting a romantic urge: at 80 he's started dyeing his locks to doubtless youthify his 25-year-older-than the Little Woman ... It also means he has no intention of retiring ... Architectural note: every new big sports-stadium must have electric outlets for hair dryers — for the jocks ... ABC-TV had been grabbing most of the recent big stakes horse races but CBS turned up with rights to the Ruffian-tragedy and stable hands wondered hucum: simply a phone call from CBS czar to Turf statesman (and brother-in-law) Jack Whitney opened the starting gate ... Jackie Gleason's long-play sweetie Honey Merrill (now Mrs. Dick Roman) beamed as daughter Diane wed Alfred Ahloun in Vegas.

What's a fine actor like Ian Martin do when he can't find a role in the current theater? He simply fashions 80 hour-long scripts for Hi Brown's Radio Mystery Theater — and writes in roles for himself and actress-wife Joen Martin.

Sorry our vacation caused us to miss the one-genius art show of portraitist Lisa Rhana at the Hammer Gallery. "A Tribute to the Ballet" was its title as Lisa took her proper place alongside Degas as a gifted reflector of the ballet — but not as Degas did with unnamed entrenchers: Lisa's brilliantly evocative daubs were of Plisetskaya, Nureyev, Fonteyn, Erik Bruhn, Ulanova, Danilova, Grist, Marcia Hay-dee, Ivan Nagy, Carla Fracci, Cynthia Gregory, Richard Cragun, Michael Denard, Frank Augustin, Marie Taglioni — where else could such a concentration of great leaping gifts be collected under one brush!

In case you suspect ASCAP is a songwriting acronym meaning Victor Herbertish nostalgia, be advised ASCAP swept the 1975 Rock Music Awards — Elton John, Bob Dylan, Linda Ronstadt, Clint Vallard, Stevie Wonder, Don Henley, Glenn Frey, John David Souther, Dan Fogelberg, Phoebe Snow, British rockers "Bad Company," the Earth, Wind and Fire group; and Joan Baez — the feathers in whose Ascaps establishing these noisemakers know which side of their royalties are buttered.

Bill Buckley's imminent first-novel "Saving the Queen" is considered a sure-pop for best sellerdom by Bill's publisher Doubleday ... Bill sent his first draft to friendly enemy John Kenneth Galbraith, who told Bill to put it away and let it cool (Doubleday told Bill the advice was like Galbraith's economics, "Half brilliant, half bull.")

Doubleday first asked Buckley what sort of novel he had in mind and he replied "For-syth," and they gleefully gloated they had a fitting update of a Galsworthy epic — but Bill explained, "Like 'Day of the Jackal'" and described a novel about the CIA and a young Yalie CIA-trained in Washington, assigned to penetrate the highest levels of London society including ultimately The Queen Caroline (Doubleday asked us if we remembered "Queen Caroline" who ruled England during the '50s and waived the rules for the CIA sexist, "No?" asks Doubleday. "Read the book.")

This maiden fiction by Buckley already has been sold to films (Peter Glenville will direct) and its British hard-cover slae has been arranged already ... Betimes Buckley crossed the Atlantic on his "Cyrano" sailing yacht (fodder for another book), jetted to London, Turkey, delivered his syndicated literary rapier-exhibitions, ran his National Review, lectured all over the world, needed Nixon, fought a battle over his N.Y. radio station, sued another publisher, plinked away at his Bachian pianistics, rode his motorcycle, as usual neglected his sartoria if nothing else ... Wife Pat's comment to N.Y. Post owner Dorothy Schiff about conservative Bill's columns in Dolly's liberal tradepaper moves into the annals of cheerful sword-slashes: "Bill is your figleaf," Pat told Mrs. Schiff.

"Raisin" closes in on its 800th performance — and hasn't yet broken even ... The soon-U.S. touring Soviet Circus wanted to play Madison Square Garden but circus psychology decided its one-ring wouldn't justify the 20,000-seat Garden — which Dec. 16-Jan. 4 will stick it into its tinier Felt Forum; it will play the big Nassau Coliseum months later (Feb. 4) and the comparison will be interesting; if not odious.

NEW YORK (UPI) — New reading kits using popular characters from two of public television's most successful children's shows will be introduced in grade schools across the United States this fall. Three kits based on "Sesame Street" and "The Electric Company" were developed to help bridge the gap between television and the printed page. They use filmstrips, audio-cassettes, special comics, do-it-yourself mini-books and self-correcting games to teach everything from pre-reading through sentence comprehension.

Mosquitoes

I was lying in bed last night when I was awakened by a deafening roar of about 97 decibels over my head. The entire bed shook as I clutched my bedsprings in fear. A look at the ceiling confirmed my suspicions.

There was a mosquito in the bedroom. My husband says I overreact to mosquitoes. That is because he does not understand that my picture and full description is posted on the walls of a mosquito post office somewhere listed among the "TEN MOST WANTED."

During my lifetime, I have done a lot of thinking and scratching about mosquitoes, having been savagely attacked by them on more than one occasion. They are nobody's fools.

In my heart I know that once I am spotted, if it is a male he whispers, "Go get her Mother." (Since only females need the blood to lay eggs.)

Mother defies description but she is somewhere between Ma Barker and The Fly That Ate The Poconos. She raises her right leg, which serves as a powerful antenna and is immediately in contact with a network of mosquitoes throughout the world.

I have known messages of my whereabouts to be intercepted in South America ("Un Norteamericano el chubbo. Atack!"), Tokyo ("Kamikaze mosquitoes man your samurai swords. Honorable target: Bombeck!"), Germany ("Achtung meine Herren, spritz und weight watchers dropout, Social Security number ..."), and Chicago ("Get the turkey!").

Within minutes, there is a task force in the sky that makes the invasion of Normandy look like an impulse.

Mosquitoes don't strike right away. They play with me. Whirling around my ears, nesting in my hair, sharpening their proboscis brazenly on my nose. Then they fly up to a height of ten feet, rev up their motors and come in for the kill.

Those for whom mosquitoes have no appetite are quick with the home remedies. I have basted my body with repellents only to have mosquitoes line up like I was a revolving bowl of chip dip. On the advice of a friend, I tried garlic breath as a deterrent. (The Italian mosquitoes loved it and couldn't keep their needles out of me.)

Peeking out of the covers last night I could see several mosquitoes positioned at 11 o'clock. It would only be a matter of seconds before they began to dive. In desperation, I put my curler bonnet on my husband and crawled on my hands and knees out of the bedroom.

There's no such thing as an honorable withdrawal.

Nixon honing image

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The public got its first glimpse inside Richard Nixon's exile at San Clemente last week and found the former president hard at work on the way he would like to be viewed by history.

The glimpse came in a 171-page deposition filed in Nixon's suit to obtain custody of the Watergate tapes and other presidential documents of his administration.

The sworn testimony tells little new about the Watergate scandal that drove Nixon from office, but tells much about a former president trying to gain a historical perspective on his years in office.

Nixon the historian is much present. He recounts how he personally wrote more speeches he delivered than any president since Woodrow Wilson. Several times he said he was following the tradition set by Lyndon Johnson and John F. Kennedy — including the tradition of taping White House conversations.

Interestingly, Nixon has strengthened, not backed down, on the need for secrecy at the highest level of government.

To get the best advice when you're president, Nixon said, you've got to have open and frank discussion off the record.

"This principle of confidentiality is indispensable for the making of great decisions," he said. "There would have been no opening to China without total absolute secrecy and confidentiality."

Nixon made it clear he is not going to let the books of others who served him stand as the historical picture of his administration.

"Each of them, like a fly on a wall, sees only or hears only part of the story," Nixon said. "The full story is something else again and the full story is something that can only be obtained from the whole range of presidential materials."

Nixon said in a number of minor ways he did not carry out his duties as president in the ways of his predecessors. Take the case of the thousands of letters the president receives every week from the public.

"I wanted to see a sampling of mail that had been received ... and wherever the letters involved a major issue it became necessary to prepare an adequate response," he said. "I took personal responsibility for preparing that response."

Nixon's sensitivity seems close to the surface throughout the testimony. He is constantly defensive, and uses the advice he got from former presidents as a means of explaining his actions. Near the end of the deposition he recounted:

"President Johnson came to see me. As you know he was a man of many moods, but he could sometimes have a towering rage and in this instance rage was directed against what he called the Williams amendment, which I recollect ... removed that portion of the law which allowed gifts or public papers to be deducted for tax purposes."

Hospital fees jump Sept. 1

EAST STROUDSBURG — Higher room rates were included in a general 10.4 per cent increase in hospital services approved by the board of directors Monday night.

The increases at the General Hospital of Monroe County will become effective Monday, Sept. 1.

Hospital administrator Charles Swisher said the increases were necessary because of generally higher patient costs, including a six per cent pay increase for hospital employees.

The cost of a day's stay at the hospital rose 13.4 per cent compared to the first half of last year. A patient day cost $115.90 on Aug. 20 compared to $102.23 a year ago on that date.

"The increases are all based on increases in cost and budgetary necessities," Swisher said Tuesday.

The new room rates include an increase for semi-private rooms from between $47 — $53.50 to between $53.50 — $60 a day.

Other room rates are private rooms, $85 from $80; mental health rooms, $94 from $82; intensive and coronary care, $130 from $112; nursery for normal stays, $21 from $18; and nursery for long-stay newborns, $24 from $21.

The basic emergency room fee will also increase to $10 from $9, with the additional emergency room doctor's fee remaining $6.

The general services increase also includes an average 20 per cent increase for some procedures in the operating room, laboratory, anesthesia, respiratory therapy and physical therapy.

Swisher said the increases in some operating room services are "like a plumber's time and materials" which increase together.

He said the laboratory increases were caused by rising costs, although some procedures have had decreasing costs because of automation.

The increases for some forms of physical therapy were made to bring the hospital's charges "into line" with fees charged at other facilities, Swisher said.

Fees for most hospital procedures and services will not be affected by the increase.

The approved salary increase will affect almost 600 full and part-time employees, including administrators, department heads, physical therapists, nurses, laundry workers, housekeepers and maintenance workers.

The pay hike will become effective Sept. 22. The last raise of eight per cent was approved by the board last September.

Some of the major increases in hospital expenses which necessitated the increase included a 216 per cent rise in the cost of coal.

Coal increased from $20.50 a ton on June 30, 1974, to an average of $52.50 a ton now, according to Doug Reimel, hospital supervisor of buildings and grounds.

The hospital also experienced a 140 per cent increase in malpractice insurance premiums and an 18.8 per cent increase for electricity.

Reimel said Metropolitan Edison bills increased from $3,807.73, due June 25, 1973, to $6,752.19, due Aug. 1, 1975.

Although the hospital also received food service increases of 11.5 per cent, Swisher praised the M.W. Wood Co. for keeping food costs low with bulk buying and changed menus.

The hospital increased room rates in June, 1974, by 10 per cent to meet the growing costs of supplies, utilities and services.

A second 10 per cent increase was approved by the board of directors last October because of rising costs and effects from a federal economic stabilization program.

Hospital work near schedule

EAST STROUDSBURG — Construction of the Jordan Pavilion at the General Hospital of Monroe County should be back on schedule by Sept. 15.

Work on the new wing was a month behind schedule after work was delayed by two strikes in the spring and by rainy weather.

Doug Reimel, hospital supervisor of buildings and grounds, said Tuesday extra crews would be put on to get work back on schedule.

He said the original construction schedule was changed so that work could be done on a boiler room and parking deck at the same time.

This kept the emergency room entrance open longer and enabled workers to begin a mass excavation for the new wing.

Reimel explained one crew wanted to put the surface on the parking deck last week but couldn't until an electrical change was made Friday.

He added that the crew would return in two weeks to do the job and that the delay hadn't put the work behind schedule.

When the parking deck is completed, the construction crew will move its trailers and equipment from the lower parking area onto the deck.

Reimel explained this will enable hospital employees to use that lot for parking again and help relieve parking in the visitor's lot.

Part of the new wing is pre-cast, so Reimel estimated it wouldn't take more than two weeks to erect that part of the building.

The wing is supposed to be enclosed by winter and will mark the halfway point in construction.

Reimel said he doesn't see any reason the work will not be finished by the Dec. 20, 1976, construction deadline.

He added there hasn't been any trouble getting workers or materials.

Approximately $500,000 worth of materials have been bought and stored away from the construction site so they will be available when needed, he said.

The new wing will be used for emergency and outpatient care and for physical rehabilitation. Another floor is being provided for later use as an operating center and intensive care and coronary units.

Third Soble proposal turned down

E-burg housing complex rejected

EAST STROUDSBURG — Plans for construction of a 250-unit housing project by Soble Construction Co., Pleasantville, N. J. were rejected for the third time by the East Stroudsburg Zoning Hearing Board.

The board rejected the application for a special use permit due to an insufficient number of parking spaces — 19 less than the required 336 — and lack of description of a required fence around the lake.

Parking spaces and the fence were two of the four amendments to the plans required by the Commonwealth Court of Pennsylvania in a Dec. 31, 1975 ruling.

The court stipulated the East Stroudsburg Zoning Hearing Board must approve the Soble plans if the firm meets four conditions:

— Providing additional parking spaces.

— Separating each building by 50 feet of open space.

— Depicting open space on the plans to show the required amount is available.

— Erecting a fence to screen a lake on the project area.

Since the zoning hearing board did not agree that all the conditions had been met, they rejected the application.

The project is to be located in a one-family residential or R-1 zone between Spangenburg Avenue and Adelaide Street.

The project fits into the "planned unit development" category of the borough's zoning code. A special use permit is required.

The original plans were dated December, 1971 and were rejected twice by the board. The second rejection came in June, 1973.

Since then the matter has been pursued by Soble Construction and the borough in the courts.

The Monroe County Court of Common Pleas upheld the zoning board's reject of the application Dec. 5, 1973.

Next the Commonwealth Court overturned the ruling. Most recently, the Pennsylvania Supreme Court denied an East Stroudsburg petition for review.

This denial meant the Dec. 26, 1974 decision of the Commonwealth Court would be allowed to stand.

It looks as though the matter will return to the courts now.

Peter O'Brien of Mount Pocono, attorney for Soble Construction Co., said Monday he had not yet received notification of the zoning hearing board decision.

He said, however, assuming the board rejected the amended plans, he would again take the matter to the Court of Common Pleas in Monroe County.

John Pentz, representing a group of citizens who oppose the apartment complex, argued the site is zoned R-1, "never intended for high-density housing."

PUC chairman vows nay vote

Pike County Bureau

MILFORD — Louis J. Carter, chairman of Pennsylvania's Public Utility Commission (PUC), says he will vote against a proposed rate increase for Pike County Light and Power Co. (PCLPC).

Although no formal action has been taken by the commission, Carter wrote a preliminary opinion on the matter and listed nine criticisms of PCLPC's request.

Calling for an independent analysis that would insure consumer representation, Carter asked that the commission's Rates and Research Bureau conduct a thorough investigation before accepting the company's claims.

He also scored the company in the following areas:

— No allocation of plant on the balance sheet between the electric division and gas division.

— No explanation why the company charge for customer accounts should have doubled.

— Since PCLPC is a subsidiary of a New York based utility, Carter noted there was "no reference in the staff report to any determination by the New York Public Service Commission, or the rate of return, or the cost of capital to the parent company."

— And Carter also questioned whether a 65 per cent debt ratio exists. "My calculation is that the debt ratio presently is 59 per cent, or substantially less than the 65 per cent required by indenture," he said.

During the trial, the victim positively identified Adams as the man who entered her home July 1, 1972, fought her to submission and raped her.

The woman testified that Adams gave her his name and was clearly visible in the breaking hours of dawn. Adams was arrested 12 days after the incident.

A motion for a new trial was denied in June, 1973 and Adams was sentenced two weeks later by Williams.

Adams was sentenced to two-and-a-half to five years on that charge, with the sentences to PCLPC filed a petition with the PUC stating that the "company was rapidly heading toward bankruptcy." The firm asked the PUC approve revised rate increases of 26 per cent for electric and eight per cent for gas.

The revised rate figures will give the utility $271,000 in electric revenues and about $20,000 from gas rates.

PCLPC, a subsidiary of Orange and Rockland Utilities, Inc., New York, had originally sought increases of $348,000 in revenue from a 35 per cent electric rate hike and $35,400 from a 13 per cent natural gas rate increase.

Carter criticized the PCLPC request for failing to explain why the company is less profitable "when, in fact, the base rates have doubled since 1972."

State orders ESSC to lay off workers

EAST STROUDSBURG — Staff layoffs at East Stroudsburg State College are definite now, but will be less severe than originally predicted, college President Darrell Holmes said Tuesday.

Holmes has maintained he could trim the college's budget without suspending employees, but Education Secretary John C. Pittenger said Monday some of the 14 state-owned colleges and Indiana University must cut spending by laying off staff.

East Stroudsburg State College (ESSC) administrators have known for months that they have to trim $870,000 from their requested 1976-77 budget of $14.1 million.

Holme's first plan he submitted to the Pennsylvania Department of Education showed a possible reduction of 86 faculty, civil service and managerial employees from a total staff of about 500.

The layoffs would have been for the 1976-77 school year.

But events have occurred since June 30, when Holmes reduced the number of employees to be retrenched to about 20, the president said Monday.

The reduction came when the state granted ESSC $50,000 toward the college's retirement fund, Holmes said.

The total number of staff the college has to release was also trimmed by counting positions vacated by quitting or retiring personnel as retrenchment, he said.

The college also cut $40,000 from its equipment and supplies category, but Holmes said these forced cutbacks can only hurt the institution.

"I really feel our hardest-hit area is teaching. We will have 175 teachers left, which means we will be short by 25. It means there will be 30 students in a composition class instead of 25. Discussion groups of 50 instead will have 75."

"We're reducing the opportunities for interaction between students and faculty," he said.

Retrenchment at the 14 institutions was ordered by Secretary Pittenger, who explained, "I was given very explicit orders by leaders of both parties in the house and senate to have a balanced budget this year."

Holmes said he was told ESSC can expect to receive the same amount of money in 1976-77—$13.3 million—as it probably will receive for this school year.

But appropriations to the state colleges do not include any pay raise state college faculty could win in upcoming negotiations.

Holmes said it appears any salary increases granted by the state might have to be made up cutting more staff, unless the legislature appropriates more money.

ESSC has been renting facilities this summer to cheerleaders and other groups to earn additional money.

The faculty teachers' union is about to begin negotiations with the state on a wage reopener guaranteed in the second year of its three-year contract. The faculty won a four per cent pay hike last year.

New kind of pull featured at fair

GILBERT — If you've had a hankerin' to enter the big tractor pull at the West End fair, but you don't have a tractor, maybe the new four-wheel drive pulling contest, being run the first time this year, is just for you.

All you need is a four-wheel drive vehicle with a hitch and some good driving ability and you could net yourself possibly $100 or more. The prize money will depend on how many competitors enter the unique contest, which will be run Thursday evening. The entrance fee is $10 per competitor and all the money received will be awarded as prizes.

Do you want to see what a four-by-four can do this year? Come out and see the range of Blazers, Jimmys, Scouts, Broncos, Toyotas and other pick-ups that are expected to enter the competition.

If you'd like to get in on the fun, here's all you have to do.

You must have a hitch with a ball or a type of bumper which will accept a clevis hitch and you'll have to report about 4 p.m. at the horse ring for the weigh in.

All hitches on the four-wheel drive vehicles cannot exceed the factory bumper height, and Pennsylvania Department of Transportation-approved tires must be on the vehicle for the competition.

The vehicle must have a fire extinguisher and any loss of parts or weight on the track will bring an immediate disqualification.

No suspension modifications will be allowed and any added weight must be inside the vehicle. Operators under 18 years of age must have the written permission of their parent or guardian to enter the contest and each operator will have to sign a statement relieving the West End Fair Association of any liability in case of an accident.

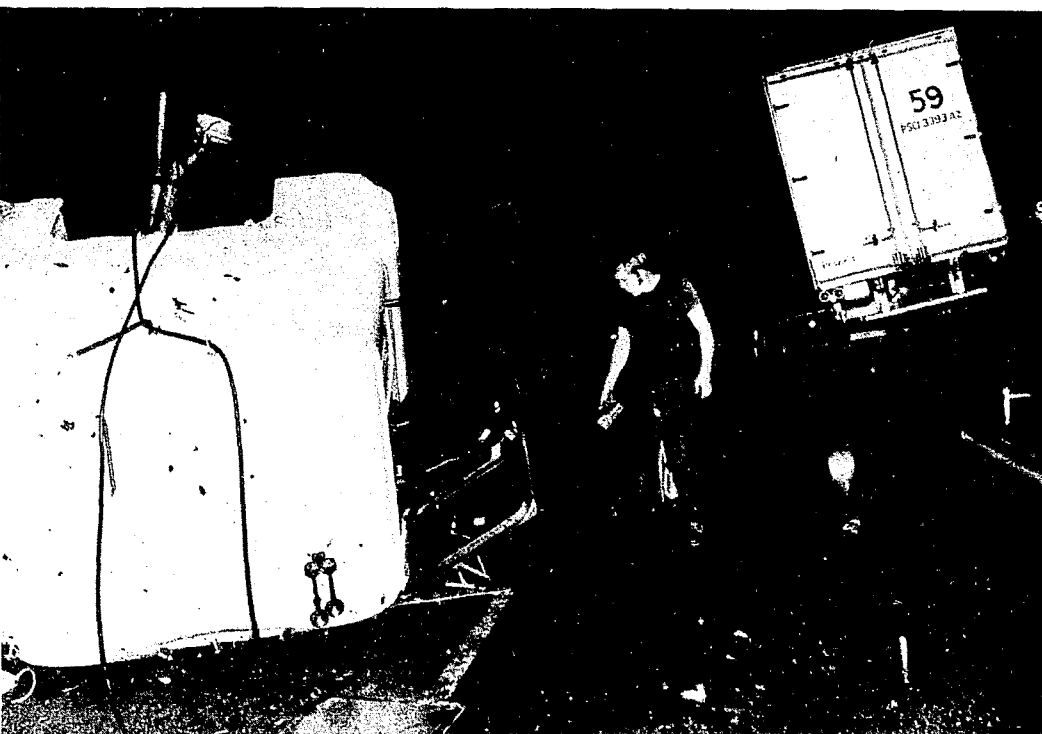

Vehicles must stop as soon as the judge signals them to and the committee in charge does reserve the right to stop and disqualify any vehicle if it is not being operated in a manner that is considered safe. The committee will have full power in any dispute over the rules.

All decisions of the judges are final. Vehicles in the stock classes must be factory original, except if equipped with headers, they must remain closed in the stock classes.

All winning vehicles will be reweighed immediately following their pull and all entries will have to be in before a particular class starts in order to compete.

The maximum tire width will be 11 inches and modified classes will consist of vehicles with open headers, and other various engine modifications.

The stock classes include 4,000 and 6,000-pound categories and the modified classes include a 4,000-pound and 6,000-pound category.

Big Mac coming to Stroudsburg

STROUDSBURG — McDonald's will soon be doing it all for Stroudsburg.

A building permit was issued to the McDonald's Corporation late last week by Joint Codes Enforcement officer for Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg, Stanley Melvin.

Melvin said the fast-food chain is now closing on the properties, located between lower Main Street and McConnell Street, N. Fourth Street and Kane Street.

Demolition of every structure, wall, fence, tree and utility pole on the property will be scheduled in about two weeks, Melvin said.

There is no projected completion date for the project as yet. But under law, construction must begin within six months of the issuance of the building permit.

The restaurant will utilize one of McDonald's newest designs and will have a 78-space parking lot.

Melvin said McDonald's will submit landscaping plans to the borough's Planning and Zoning Commission to insure that the appearance fits in with borough plans for beautification on McConnell Street.

Approximately eight buildings and several garages will be demolished to make room for the restaurant. Those buildings with addresses between 320 Main St. and 332 Main St. will be torn down.

EAST STROUDSBURG

Whoever called Eddie Feigner a master showman was absolutely correct.

Feigner and his world-famous "King and His Court" lured 1,700 people to the East Stroudsburg High School Football Stadium and proceeded to beat a Pocono all star team and heavy rains which fell 45 minutes after the game in a fast-paced 3-0 softball exhibition.

Gary West, Les Barber and Feigner all hit home runs — off Pocono pitchers Denny Hollinger, Harry Mullins and Hippy Nootigedagt — and Feigner allowed just a single to George Metropoulos and a final inning Hollinger triple in a game sponsored by the Pocono Mountain Jaycees.

Feigner entertained the large turnout with pitching tricks, including slipping a strike past East Stroudsburg football coach Dick Merring without even throwing the ball. Feigner explained how the incident became part of the show.

No pitch trick

"We were at a game once and we tried it just for the heck of it," he said after the game. "The only thing preventing it from working was that the catcher couldn't laugh at all."

"We tried it on a sure enough," he added, "the umpire called it a strike and it struck the batter out. I didn't even throw the ball and the umpire, who may not have seen at all anyhow, called it a strike."

"The batter argued and my catcher came out to talk to me," Feigner recalled. "He said the guy wasn't saying that I didn't even throw the ball, but rather that the pitch was high."

Sounded low

Fourteen batters from the Pocono stars — comprised of 27 players from all walks of Pocono life — went down on strikes, including this writer. As a matter of fact, that strikeout brought this dialogue.

"Where was that pitch?" said the batter.

"It sounded low," said the umpire.

Most fans in the crowd hung on every word Feigner said and he didn't disappoint them. For a guy whose livelihood has taken him nearly everywhere in the world and is finishing his 30th year at a sport which has made him famous, Feigner could pass for the guy down the block. He's that refreshing.

He set batters up beautifully. Those Pocono players who came in shirts from other area leagues had to work hard to strike out, except Hollinger and Metropoulos. The others had it a bit easier, but the result was mostly the same — look at three and sit down.

Feigner had the crowd — one which gave the Pocono Mountain Jaycees a big boost — leaning on his every word. He pitched the fifth inning blindfolded and the sixth inning from second base, but didn't pitch kneeling from second base.

Hand in ground

"One time we were in a game and a fan asked me if I was going to pitch blindfolded on my knees from second base," Feigner said.

"What happened was some guy in the newspaper forgot to put the commas in between the words. So I went out there and tried it. I threw my hand right into the dirt."

Nearly every batter wanting to take a big cut at Feigner's offerings was turned into something you can buy on nearly any Philadelphia street corner — a big pretzel.

The guys who didn't take mighty cuts took smaller ones. Three small ones, for the most part.

Feigner hadn't been in this area for about five or six years and his last appearance was at the same Purple Pit used Tuesday night.

Pitching show

The sixth inning saw Feigner pitching from second base. "I'd throw mostly a long drop," he said. "The ball looks easy to hit but you don't realize it's actually going down all the time. On a drop from the regular mound it might look like it was falling off a table."

If you've never seen a pitch curve 15 feet, you missed it Tuesday night. Pitching to Ron Spinner in a special post-game pitching show, Feigner included a 70-yard pitch in his routine.

He let it go out over the football sideline and by the time it reached Spinner, it had curved back to the infield track. "If there wasn't a fence back there," Feigner said pointing to the fence at the stadium's closed end, "I could throw one that might go around the goalposts."

The game made a lot of friends for softball and Feigner, and it helped some worthy groups. The King and His Court, royal all the way.

MISSED IT — Bob Wert's facial reaction tells it all as he takes a mighty swing and misses one of Eddie Feigner's deliveries Tuesday night during a softball exhibition at East Stroudsburg High School football stadium.

Pirate bats explode early in 8-2 victory over Braves

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — A six-run first inning rally highlighted by eight consecutive hits sparked the Pittsburgh Pirates to an 8-2 victory over the Atlanta Braves Tuesday night as Larry Demery went the distance for the first time since Aug. 13 of last season.

Demery, a starter at the beginning of the year but who had spent most of the season in the bullpen, scattered 10 hits in notching his seventh victory in 10 decisions.

The Pirates trailed 1-0 in the first inning when Frank Taveras opened with a triple and scored on Rennie Stennett's single. Six more consecutive singles by Al Oliver, Willie Stargell, Richie Zisk, Dave Parker, Richie Hebner and Duffy Dyer produced five more runs against losing pitcher Jamie Easterly, 1-7, who didn't get an out, and reliever Ray Sadecki.

The eight straight hits came within two of tying the major league record of 10 held by four clubs.

Zisk tripled in the fifth and scored on Parker's single and Oliver doubled in the seventh and came home on Zisk's single.

The Braves scored in the first inning on singles by Ralph Garr and Dusty Baker, sandwiched around two ground outs, and again in the eighth on Clarence Gaston's single, Larvell Blanks' double, and Biff Pocoroba's single.

Cardinals, 10-9
ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Reggie Smith singled home Bake McBride in the 12th inning Tuesday night as the St. Louis Cardinals overcame a seven-run deficit to take a 10-9 victory over the Houston Astros in the first game of a doubleheader.

McBride opened the inning with a single off Houston reliever Jose Sosa, the fourth Astro pitcher. Winning pitcher Al Hrabosky, 11-3, moved McBride to second with a sacrifice. Ted Simmons was walked intentionally before Smith rapped a drive to center to score McBride.

Reds, 6-5

CHICAGO (UPI) — Joe Morgan's bases loaded single off first baseman Andy Thornton's glove with two outs in the ninth Tuesday scored pinch runner Dave Concepcion and Pete Rose to give the Cincinnati Reds a come-from-behind 6-5 win over the Chicago Cubs, only their fourth victory in the last nine contests.

Pinch hitter Terry Crowley started the Reds' ninth inning attack with a single after two out and Concepcion ran for him. Rose walked and Ken Griffey beat out a single to second baseman Manny Trillo to fill the bases.

Nastase: 7-6, 6-1
SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (UPI) — Ilie Nastase battled poor court conditions and a temperamental opponent in defeating Bob Hewitt, 7-6, 6-1 in the men's singles final of the $50,000 Tennis Week Open tournament at the Orange Tennis Club here Tuesday night.

The tournament triumph could be just the winning tonic that the flamboyant Romanian star needs before opening competition in the U.S. Open championships at Forest Hills. Nastase won here in 1972 and then repeated his success later at the national championships.

Vilas, a lawyer's son from Mar del Plata, rallied from 0-5 in the second set to win four straight games. But after taking a 40-15 lead in the 10th game, Vilas fell apart, losing the final four points. He gave away the set on a hard forehand that was very long.

The two friends, who frequently practice together on the tour, played even through the fifth game of the final set with Borg taking a 3-2 lead. But again, the sixth game, Vilas' strokes deserted him after he had built a 40-15 edge on his serve.

POCONO MANOR — Helen Ciuzio joined the ranks of those netting a hole-in-one recently when she holed her tee shot on the famed par-three, 77-yard seventh hole at Pocono Manor.

A Brooklyn, N.Y., resident, she was playing in a foursome with Dotty Cable, Debbie Cable and Gay Burns.

Angels keep Boston from heaven

BOSTON (UPI) — Andy Etchebarren's three-run batted in and Ed Figueroa's four-hit pitching gave the California Angels an 8-2 victory over the Boston Red Sox Tuesday night.

Etchebarren, playing his eighth game with the Angels, hit his second home run of the season in the fifth inning off loser Luis Tiant, whose parents saw him pitch professionally for the first time and whose father threw out the first ball.

Tiant's parents were both in the stands behind the screen, sitting with Luis' wife and the couple's grandson, Luis Jr.

Etchebarren drove in his other two runs with a bases-loaded single in the seventh inning when the Angels disposed of Tiant with three runs to break a 2-2 tie. California added three more runs in the eighth inning off Jim Willoughby, two of the runs unearned.

Figueroa, whose record is now 12-10, racked up his third consecutive victory against the Red Sox this season. He allowed two runs in the fourth inning on two ground rule doubles, one each by Denny Doyle and Jim Rice, a walk to Carl Yastrzemski and an infield hit by Fred Lynn. Lynn's hit drove in a run, extending his American League lead to 90.

Royals, 4-3

KANSAS CITY (UPI) — George Brett drilled a run-scoring double to the left field wall in the sixth inning and spoiled Jim Palmer's try to become the first 20-game winner in the majors this year Tuesday night as the Kansas City Royals downed the Baltimore Orioles 4-3 in the first game of a two-night doubleheader.

Rookie Dennis Leonard, 10-5, picked up the victory but needed relief help in the seventh. Palmer had not lost since July 23.

Brett drove in Hal McRae who had singled with two out.

The Royals took the lead in the first inning on two unearned runs. The Orioles came back with three runs in the third on a Brooks Robinson single and a two-run homer by Dave Duncan.

Yankees, 7-1

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jim "Catfish" Hunter beat his former teammates for the fourth time this season while Roy White and Thurman Munson supported him with four hits each Tuesday night, leading the New York Yankees to a 7-1 victory over the Oakland A's.

Hunter, 18-12, walked two and struck out nine—his season high—while limiting Oakland to seven hits. All four of his appearances against the A's have resulted in complete game victories and in 36 innings, he has limited them to only three runs, 15 singles and seven walks. Overall, the right-hander has completed 24 games, tops in the major leagues.

New York took a 3-1 lead into the seventh, then ripped the game open with four runs off reliever Paul Lindblad.

Twins, 2-1

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Dave Goltz fired a seven-hitter for his 13th victory to hurl the Minnesota Twins to a 2-1 triumph over the Milwaukee Brewers Tuesday night.

The win was the Twins' 13th in the last 17 games while the Brewers dropped their 10th in the last 11.

Goltz had a shutout until the ninth when Don Money singled and scored on a double by Mike Hegan. He walked two and struck out three to improve his record to 13-10.

Rangers, 3-2

ARLINGTON, Tex. (UPI) — Dave Moates' one out single in the 10th inning scored Len Randle from third Tuesday night and gave the Texas Rangers their fourth straight victory, a 3-2 decision over the Detroit Tigers.

The win went to Gaylord Perry, 14-15, who has now given up only seven earned runs in his last 88 innings of pitching.

Randle started the 10th with a single off loser Gene Pentz, 0-3, and moved to second on a sacrifice by Mike Cabbage. Mike Hargrove was intentionally walked and Jeff Burroughs then drew another walk to load the bases. Moates then lofted a base hit over Ben Olivie.

NFLPA, owners suspend talks

CHICAGO (UPI) — Negotiations for National Football League teams and players couldn't find their way around "basic gut issues" in trying to progress toward a new player contract, federal mediator James Scarsce said Tuesday.

Scarsce instructed representatives for both the NFL owners and the players to make no comment on their two meetings, one running until early Tuesday morning and the next lasting about two hours Tuesday afternoon.

Amazing comeback

Betsy Peeny Bartholomew had been away from golf for six years when she came back out to Glen Brook and shot an 86.

That was in June and now, two months later, she is the champion of the Glen Brook Women's Golf Association.

"I hadn't played for about six years since I got married and had children right away," she said Monday. Her son is now five and her daughter three and mom is back on the golf course.

"Pleased?" she said to a question asking how the championship felt. "I was delighted." She had been club champion three times previously, the first in 1958, and was also the All-Navy women's champion in both 1963 and 1964 while in the service.

She had played a lot when she played before, but when she came back, the old skills were still there. "When I played before," Mrs. Bartholomew said, "I played a lot. The first day out in June I shot an 86 and the lowest I had were two 79s and a couple of 80s."

Mrs. Bartholomew started in golf as a 12-year-old, with her brother. "I started when I was 12," she said. "My father was an avid golfer and he encouraged us."

Can you imagine? She hadn't touched a club in six years and her first year back, she wins the championship. Truly amazing. Take that, Ben Hogan.

Sorry about that Ted

We carried a story Tuesday about the Pocono Mountains Open at Pocono Manor won by Bruce MacDonald in sudden death after tying with two others golfers at 69.

What we forgot was the score of Ted Johnson, host pro at Pocono Manor. Ted had a 77 and he was not in North Carolina. That's another term for "in card." Sorry about that, Ted.

Strange ending

The stage was set for a tough finish to the club championship Sunday at Glen Brook. Bob Foote and Mag Loney had just tied the par-five 17th with birdies to leave Loney with a one-up lead going to the final hole, the relatively easy par-four 18th. Then the fireworks began, if fireworks is the correct term.

Foote, since he had won the 16th and then halved 17, had the honor at 18. He drove into the heavy bushes above the pond to the left of the tee and with a 15-foot rebound, was only 50 yards off the tee. From our pointed observer comes the note that all Loney had to do was lay it out in the fairway and he would be club champion.

So what did he do? He duck-hooked it into the trees in front of the pond and into the water. Now Loney had a tough five and Foote had a chance at a conservative five and a probable win on the hole. But he decided to smack it through the smaller branches and go for distance.

The shot hit a branch and went into the water. Both players dropped behind the pond and Loney almost missed another. He hit a liner which cleared the water and ran up 50 yards from the green. Foote hit a good one, left of the green on a small bank. Loney then pitched short to the front of the green.

Foote was now hitting five and, knowing he had to win to stay alive, went at the hole to chip it in. He missed by inches and ran two feet past. Loney put his approach putt six inches away for a tap-in and victory, as both players had six on the hole. A double bogey finish for both.

The finish took nothing away from either player and especially from Loney, the Stroudsburg golfing mayor who became the club champion at the age of 57.

DeSchriver's need track shoes

Jean and Dick DeSchriver, a fine couple with a fine family who care about everyone and everything, were in Mexico last week while Dick attended a track coaches confab and Jean comes back with a plea to help Mexican track athletes, especially the younger ones.

The DeSchivers saw something which we don't see often and that's a real need for something down there. It seems most of the kids wanting to be track and field participants are being held back by one major stumbling block: they don't have any track shoes.

Yeah, in this land of plenty that's something we don't hear of. But Jean reports kids are running in desert boots, leather shoes, old high-top black sneakers or even in bare feet, just so they can take part in track and field.

So, if you've got some extras around the house that you've been wondering what to do with here's your chance to see they go to someone who really needs them, someone who really wants them.

Bring them to the Koehler Fieldhouse at East Stroudsburg State College to Dick DeSchriver or contact Jean DeSchriver and they'll be more than happy to take them. Warmups, track spikes, sneakers, things you've out-grown or don't wear anymore, any size at all, there are people in Mexico who can use them. And who really want them.

Formula 5000 at Pocono

Pocono International Raceway, which had the season-opening Formula 5000 race washed out in May before finally getting it in early in June, will again draw the opener next year in the popular road racing series.

The Sports Car Club of America (SCCA) announced seven dates for the 1976 campaign and Pocono will again get the opener on May 9. The road races, which draw drivers like Pocono winner Brian Redmond, Mario Andretti, Al and Bobby Unser, Jackie Oliver and other big names to Pocono, are jointly sanctioned by the United States Auto Club (USAC) and the SCCA.

The cars, for those who haven't seen them, are virtually identical to Formula One (Grand Prix) cars in appearance and performance. For those who haven't seen Formula One cars, they're smaller than USAC championship cars and you have an opportunity to see them Oct. 5 at the Grand Prix of the United States at Watkins Glen, N.Y.

Expect 70 competitors to enter Pocono 150

LONG POND — An estimated 70 competitors will be vying for the 50 available starting berths, for the August 31 Pocono-NASCAR 150.

While 56 entries, including 16 guaranteed starters, have been received to date, an additional 20 entries are anticipated for this NASCAR National Championship event.

A partial run down of the entries received to date for Pocono's $33,000.00 modified stock car event, stacks up like a who's who list for nationally known modified drivers. Included are such modified heavies as Jerry Cook, Richie Evans, George Kay, Sonny Seamon, Bill Park, Ray Hendricks, Geoff Bodine, Will Cagle, Maynard Troyer, Dutch Hoag, Graeme Bolla, Satch Worley, and Vern Chevalier.

Although 16 drivers have been guaranteed starting positions for the 150 mile feature event, all drivers will participate in a two-lap qualification run and a 25 mile heat race.

With only 3 hours allocated for practice, crews will be hustling to find the best chassis "set-up" for Pocono's demanding 2.5 mile Super-speedway.

Track action for the Pocono-NASCAR 150 will begin with practice at 9 a.m., qualifications at 12:30, two 25-mile heats at 2:30, and the feature taking the green at 3:30. In-field camping will open at 5 p.m. Saturday.

Connors faces tough task in defense of Forest Hills

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI) — Jimmy Connors begins defense of his U.S. Open tennis championship Wednesday with the knowledge that any one of about six men can deprive him of his title, unlike 12 months ago when he was the odds-on favorite and literally blew aside all challengers.

Connors has made money in 1975, plenty of it, but his name is missing from the championship role. On New Year's day he lost his Australian title to John Newcombe, but the bitterest pill came in July when Arthur Ashe deprived him of his Wimbledon crown.

Until the semifinals at Wimbledon, Connors had played like a forest fire out of control, stomping over all opposition without dropping a set, but in the final Ashe doused his flame in four sets to record his first major victory over Connors.

Ashe, the fourth seed in the 12-day, $309,000 championship, is not considered a serious challenger for the Open, which will be played on clay courts for the first time, because his game is tailored to fast grass and cement.

Ashe may also be a bit short on desire. He set himself two goals at the start of the year and achieved them both: the WCT championship at Dallas in May and Wimbledon. Forest Hills did not figure in his plans.

"I'm a good clay courts player, however, and feel confident of my chances in the Open," Ashe said. "I've had a good summer on this type surface."

"Physically, I'm ready, so it's just a mental thing. I can get blown out in the first round, or go all the way."

The highlight of Connors' year came when he defeated Rod Laver and John Newcombe in lucrative challenge matches at Las Vegas. He is said to have earned in excess of $1 million from all sources from these two matches, but neither of the veteran Aussies can match the current skills of Guillermo Vilas, Manuel Orantes, Bjorn Borg and Ilie Nastase on a clay court.

These are the men who'll stand in Connors' way as he bids to retain his championship and the $25,000 purse which goes with it.

Vilas, the Masters champion from Argentina, has been virtually unbeatable on clay during the post Wimbledon segment of the season.

"The women take the court Thursday with Chris Evert the overwhelming favorite to win the one major title to elude her in her first tournament career."

Miss Evert has lost three straight times in the semifinals, but the field of 64 have virtually conceded her the title. As third seeded Martina Navratilova, her victim in the Italian and French finals, said earlier this week: "There is Chris Evert and then there are the rest of us..."

Billie Jean King, who defeated Miss Evert in the Wimbledon semifinals en route to the championship, is not defending her title.

Kelley defeats Campbell in first U.S. Amateur upset

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — Tom Kelley, a honeymooning salesman from Fort Wayne, Ind., eliminated Bill Campbell in a stunning upset Tuesday that marked the first round of the diamond anniversary U.S. Amateur golf championship.

Playing in this tournament for the first time, Kelley won the first two holes, blew the lead and then rallied from behind for a 1-up victory over Campbell, the 1964 champion.

For Campbell, the 52-year-old Huntington, W. Va., insurance man, the dean of American amateurs and a competitor in this championship for the 32nd time, it marked his quickest dispatch since 1961 when he also was defeated in the first round.

Kelley went ahead to stay when he came out of a bunker to within eight feet and sank the putt for a birdie four at 530-yard 16th. The last two holes were halved with bogeys, Kelley missing a chance to close it out when he three-putted the 17th and then Campbell missing from six feet at the 18th.

The only other ranking player beaten was Maryland Open champion Marty West, a member of the Walker Cup team two years ago. Bob Young, golf captain at the University of Georgia, rallied from a four-hole deficit to win the last five and beat West, 1 up.

Curtis Strange

"If it stays like this, I don't know if they're going to be able to play 36-holes in a day (that begins Friday) without some people passing out," said 20-year-old Curtis Strange. "I feel like I ran 10 miles today. I feel like I do, at my age, it's going to be awfully hard on the older players."

Florida's Bean, the Western and Dixie Amateur Champion, needed just a dozen holes to eliminate Gary Tinney of Pensacola, Fla., 8 and 6; and Strange, the NCAA champion as a Wake Forest freshman a year ago, beat Richard Peterson, a Cincinnati engineer, 5 and 4.

Tom Jones of Oklahoma

State, the Big-8 champion, won easily, as did Lance Ten Brock of Texas, the Southwest Conference winner, and Jay Sigel, Berwin, Pa., a seven-time Pennsylvania amateur champion and a nine-stroke winner earlier this summer in the Porter Cup.

However, Mike Reid, a Brigham Young All American, lost on the 20th hole to Marshall Marraccini of Elizabeth, Pa.

Team gains Shawnee golf win

SHAWNEE-ON-DELAWARE — Dottie Paukovitch, Reb Pugh, Betty Thomas, and Birgit Karch combined to win the Shawnee Women's Golf Association's Best Ball of Partners tournament Tuesday with a score of 58.

Marion Scott earned Class A low gross honors with an 89. Polly Sofoul was the low gross Class B player with a 96, while Lil Boslick took low gross Class C honors with a 114.

Donna Weichel had low putt honors with 27. Dottie Paukovitch and Laura Newcomb had chip-ins.

Peggy Brannum was the top half-rounder, while Katherine Schlegel won among the associate putters.

Your Horoscope

Frances Drake

ARIES (March 21 to April 20) — The ambitious Aries should find this day a most challenging one. Be ready for new opportunities, new beginnings, new incentive!

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21) — Fine aspects encourage clever action, but don't set up hazards for yourself through haste, superfluous moves, non-fruitful interests.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21) — Emphasize sympathy, affability, sincerity. Don't spend all you've earned monetarily, but double you spending in friendship, wholehearted interest in the good things of life.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23) — Keep ears attuned for really useful hints; recognize the valued efforts of others; transfer good ideas to your own program. Emphasize composure all day.

LEO (July 24 to August 23) — Being a natural leader, others now look to you for guidance, incentive. Supply both generously. They will be grateful and you will reap compensating reward.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23) — A new goal in mind? Stop to ascertain first what is really required, then figure out the best avenues to its achievement. Consult with those who have your interests at heart.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23) — If there is a fragile conception of values this day, then your picture is NOT in focus. You should be scaling the heights of inspired thinking.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 23) — Why not step forward in more venturesome manner if you have all needed facts, and your intuition tells you that NOW is the time? Stars are on your side.

SAGITTARIUS (November 24 to December 23) — You are due for a unique surprise now, or soon, unless you work at odds with congenial influences. Wrap up duties without delay; save some time for rest and relaxation.

CAPRICORN (December 24 to January 23) — Do the things that make you feel that life is worth living. In this way, you can relieve the tensions of the past, become more fit to handle the busy days ahead.

AQUARIUS (January 24 to February 19) — A fine day for artistic, literary and social interests. In all things, capitalize on your finesse and general know-how.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20) — A number of small matters, well handled, can add up to a winning day. Begin early to determine just where you wish to go and HOW!

YOU BORN TODAY are a highly intuitive individual, sensitive to the needs of others and a guiding light in the causes you espouse — which may be many in a lifetime.

Opening lead — king of clubs.

Luck evens out in the long run, so if you want to wind up ahead in the race you have to play bridge a shade better than those other three characters at the table who simply don't understand what the game's all about.

Let's say you're in six hearts and West leads the king of clubs, which you ruff. You play the queen of trumps and finesse, but your horrid opponent on the right wins with the king and returns the queen of spades.

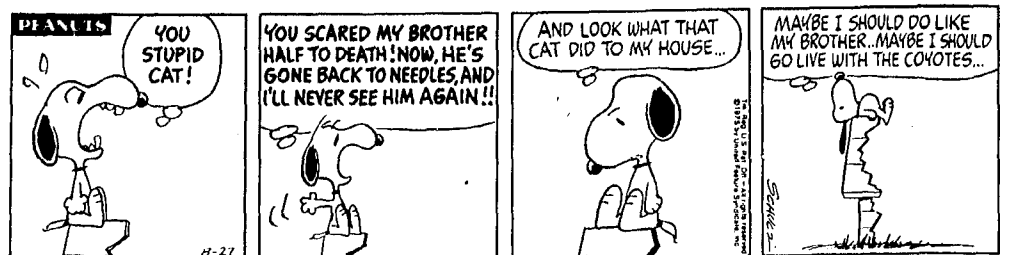

It looks as though you must lose a spade trick and eventually go down one, but if you put your gray cells to work, a possible way of avoiding the spade loser emerges.

You win the spade return in dummy with the king, ruff a club with the ten, reenter dummy with a low trump to the nine, and ruff another club with the jack.

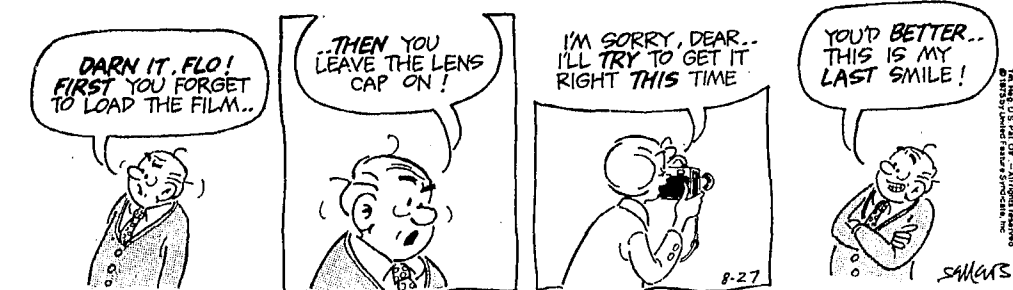

This runs you out of trumps in your hand, since you ruffed clubs three times and led trumps twice, but that is precisely what you were trying to do.

You now enter dummy with a diamond and draw West's last trump with the ace, at the same time discarding a spade from your hand. The K-Q-J-10 of diamonds and ace of spades win the last five tricks and the slam comes home as your spade loser strangely vanishes into thin air.

In effect, you scored five trump tricks instead of only the four that seemed likely after the trump finesse failed — thus manufacturing a decisive extra trick. It may seem odd that to make the slam you must discard your spade loser on one of dummy's trumps, but that is the way things usually go in dummy reversal hands.

Worried about answering a blind box number ad? (Because you don't know who the advertiser is?)

If you are worried about answering one of these blind ads — since it may be your own firm — simply do this: Place your letter of application in an envelope addressed to the box number and seal it. Then put the envelope in another envelope addressed to the Classified Dept., The Pocono Record, and enclose the names you do NOT want to receive your reply. If one of the companies (or individuals) you listed placed the ad, we will simply discard your reply. Sorry, but we cannot return your letter without violating the confidence of our advertisers.

Enjoy your home more with a Bilco
Basement Door

Whether you're going to build a new home or stay in your present one, a Bilco Door will help you to enjoy it more. It makes your basement just as convenient and useful as the rest of your house — easy to furnish and safe for your family's enjoyment.

If your home was built without an outside basement door, adding one now will open up a whole extra floor of valuable space. Space for recreation, hobbies and storage. Bulky articles move directly in and out; no tracking through upstairs rooms.

As a replacement for a wooden door, the rugged all-steel Bilco Door will add beauty and value to your home — while paying for itself by saving repair costs.
